Plans for Seizure by Army Weighed.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—With miners striking in the coal mines that supply the big steel producers President Roosevelt found himself tonight face to face with the problem of getting fuel to continue and increase the armament production essential to British victory in the war with Germany and Italy.

John L. Lewis leaving coal conference yesterday. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

In an eleventh hour effort to avert a walkout of the 53,000 miners in the "captive" mines controled by the steel companies, and probably a strike of 350,000 more miners in the commercial mines, the steel officials spent the day negotiating with the mine union leaders. Heading the steel company officials was Benjamin Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation. The miners were represented by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers [CIO].

Both to Report to President.

The conference which got under way in Fairless' hotel room at 11 a. m. broke up shortly before 6 p. m. in a deadlock. Both Fairless and Lewis said no agreement had been reached. Each group will report to the President tomorrow the failure of the negotiations.

The employers took their stand on the decision of the National Defense Mediation board. They told Lewis they were willing to accept the terms of the Appalachian agreement minus the union shop provision, which was the board's proposal. They refused to make any concession infringing their power to determine whom they should retain in their employ.

Lewis insisted on the union shop which would require an employé to join the union after a probationary period and obligate the employer to discharge an employé who failed to join the union or who subsequently lost favor with the union for failure to pay dues or other reasons.

Lewis Says Strike Is On.

Neither side would make any concession to the other and both tossed the ball back to the President. Lewis said that the strike is already in effect and the mines will be closed tomorrow. He did not indicate whether or not a supporting strike of the 350,000 men in the commercial mines would be called.

[In Detroit, the executive board of the CIO pledged its support in the efforts of the United Mine Workers to gain a union shop in the captive mines. Story on page 10.]

From Pittsburgh came word that the workers in the southwest Pennsylvania captive coal mines were belatedly ordered tonight not to work Monday.

More than 28,000 of the nation's 53,000 captive mine workers are in western Pennsylvania. A few coke oven workers and maintenance men reported for work before the order arrived. They completed their shifts. The majority of coal diggers report at 7 a. m. Monday.

First Group Fails to Report.

The first miners heeding the strike order failed to report for work at the National Mining company mine at Morgan, Pa. An official of the company, a United States Steel subsidiary, said a maintenance crew and 15 coal diggers who usually report for a Sunday midnight-8 a. m. [EST] shift remained away.

Meanwhile UMW locals at three captive mines of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, which has granted the union shop, voted to stay out of the mines in sympathy with the strikers.

An official of the United States Coal and Coke company at Danville, Ill., which operates the only captive mine in Illinois at Westville, said he was advised by a local official of the United Mine Workers that about 1,000 miners

NAZIS FREEZE IN TANKS AS REDS REPEL NEW PUSH

Russia Hails Aid of 'Napoleon Weather.'

LONDON, Nov. 17 [Monday] (AP).—German troops were reported today to have been thrown back in two key sectors of the northern Russian front and frozen to a halt by snow and near zero weather in the Crimea.

The Moscow radio said soviet planes ranging over the front from Moscow to the Crimea on Saturday destroyed 44 German tanks, more than 200 trucks carrying Nazi infantry and ammunition and a number of armored cars.

At the same time, the Moscow radio proclaimed that "Napoleon weather" had arrived and reported for the first time that German soldiers had been frozen to death, in tanks imprisoned in ice and snow. The same relentless winter that stalked Napoleon to defeat in 1812 now preys on the new invaders, Moscow said.

Aid to Sevastopol Defense.

Dispatches from Stockholm said the temperature in the Crimea had dropped suddenly to 5 degrees Fahrenheit above zero, and that even the offensive of the Finns, famous for their winter ski fighters, had been stopped by the weather in Karelia where Russian reports said Germans and Finns lost 5,000 men in a 10 day battle.

The British quarters said heavy snow in the usually balmy Crimean peninsula, parts of which are a favorite winter resort, almost certainly would be a "definite advantage to the defense of Sevastopol," the Red fleet's Black sea base. Snow also should aid the Russians in slowing down or stopping the tank movements against Kerch, at the eastern tip of the Crimea, in the German drive to hop the narrow strait to the Caucasus.

[A Vichy (French) news agency report received in London quoted the German radio as saying German troops had penetrated into Kerch, and that fighting was in progress in streets of the city.]

Violent Attacks at Kalinin.

The early morning Moscow communique said violent German attacks in Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, had been beaten back and that Germans also had been thrown back with heavy losses in one sector of the southwestern front.

Moscow also reported that Russian troops were counterattacking in the Tikhvin area 110 miles southeast of Leningrad. The Red forces were said to have driven the Germans back and recaptured two villages in violent fighting.

[The German high command last week claimed capture of Tikhvin on Nov. 8, and said yesterday that 103 "fighting positions" in the area had been taken. The Russians claim to have kept Leningrad in touch with Moscow by means of this railway thruout the weeks that the Germans have said Leningrad was encircled.]

Reds Hold Initiative.

On the central front, Moscow reports quoted Izvestia, government organ, as saying the Russians were taking the initiative more and more, and in places were forcing the Germans into retreats. Dispatches said the Germans had been compelled to abandon several settlements in the Tula sector, 100 miles south of Moscow, and to have been repulsed with a loss of 2,000 dead and wounded in efforts to reach the Tula-Serpukhov road.

The Germans were reported bringing up reserves to the Maloyarosiavets sector, 65 miles southwest of the capital, apparently for a renewal of their drive there. Russian counterattacks along the Nara river were said to have interrupted the massing of troops.

Seize Heights Near Murmansk.

Before Murmansk, far northern dispatches said the Russians had taken the initiative and captured strategically important heights in a battle which cost the Germans 900 casualties.

Authoritative British sources were unable to confirm Finnish reports of encountering tanks from Britain on the far northern front, but said it was "quite possible" as large numbers had been sent to Russia.

Vessel Flying U.S. Flag, Navy Says in Report

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—The first American victory of the undeclared war on Germany and Italy was reported by the navy department tonight.

It was announced that a United States cruiser on Nov. 6 had captured an axis merchant ship masquerading as an American ship. Both the merchantman and its crew are being brought to an American port.

The navy continued to profess ignorance of British reports of the destruction of German submarines, torpedo launches, and a torpedo launch carrier by American and British naval units operating in conjunction off the Norwegian coast.

So far as the record goes the tide of the undeclared war is running heavily in favor of the Nazis. The American destroyer Reuben James was sunk with a loss of 99 officers and enlisted men. The destroyer Kearny was seriously damaged with the sacrifice of the lives of 11 seamen. Another navy ship, the tanker Salinas, also was seriously damaged.

Text of Naval Report.

The United States navy's sole accomplishment so far in the undeclared war was disclosed in the following navy department statement tonight:

"The navy department announced tonight that a United States cruiser at dawn, Nov. 6, in Atlantic equatorial waters sighted a merchant ship flying United States colors and with a United States flag displayed on either side of her hull and on deck. Upon closer approach the cruiser read the name—that of a United States merchant ship—on the sides of her pilot house and on her stern. Philadelphia was shown as the home port.

"However, since the appearance was suspicious, the cruiser signaled to heave to, lowered a boat and sent an officer to investigate.

"Before the boat reached the merchant ship, the crew of the latter began abandoning ship. At the same time a signal was hoisted on her with the meaning: 'Send boats for passengers; I am sinking.'

Two Explosions on Ship.

"Immediately thereafter, two explosions were heard within the merchant ship. The cruiser put a salvage party aboard and after some hours' work succeeded in stopping the leaks caused by the explosions and in getting the engines running.

"The cruiser reports that the papers of the merchant ship indicate that she was owned by subjects of one of the axis powers, the ship was sailing under false colors, that she was severely damaged by her own crew, and that she is now unseaworthy.

"A crew from the cruiser is bringing the merchant ship to a port within the jurisdiction of a United States court. Repairs will unquestionably be necessary to render the ship entirely seaworthy."

Bringing Crew to U. S.

The heavily censored navy department account of the incident left a great deal unexplained, but the wall of secrecy proved impenetrable to reportorial inquiry—with one exception. Whether the crew of the camouflaged axis ship had succeeded in escaping was a detail which the navy omitted from the censored account. Prodded on this point the navy department stated that the axis crew had been captured and was being brought to the United States.

JAPAN REVEALS DEMANDS TO END PACIFIC CRISIS

Premier Warns U.S.: Stop Blockade.

TOKIO, Nov. 17 [Monday, via Trans-Pacific Telephone] (AP).—Premier Hideki Tojo today outlined Japanese demands for settlement of the Pacific crisis in a diet speech in which he forcefully stressed the necessity for preventing spread of the European war to the Pacific.

Premier Tojo.

Chief among the premier's demands were an end to the British-American blockade of Japan, a halt to what he called military encirclement, and the restoration of normal trade.

The other main stipulation was that others keep hands off Japan's settlement of the conflict with China.

"The economic blockade resorted to by nonbelligerent powers constitutes a measure little less hostile than carrying on an armed warfare," Tojo declared.

Blames ABCD Powers.

The premier referred to the "military encirclement" which he said had developed in recent months as a major stumbling block in the way of easing the far eastern tension. He charged specifically that the ABCD powers—America, Britain, China, and the Dutch East Indies—were responsible.

"The task of settling the China affair has entered its final stage," Tojo said. "However, economic and military activities of countries aiding Chiang Kai-shek have become increasingly more vigorous. They constitute the last remaining pillar of Chungking's power of resistance and are obstructing successful conclusion of the China affair."

Tojo, in uniform, spoke forcefully and was loudly applauded when he finished his 10 minute address.

Preceding him was Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo, who declared time for negotiations with the United States is nearing an end and warned bluntly "there is naturally a limit to our conciliatory attitude."

In speeches yesterday the premier and Navy Minister Shigetaro Shimada declared Japan's determination to conclude the nation's "greater east Asia" program—come what may.

Press Mentions "Last Chance."

As the foreign minister reviewed relations with the United States, the Tokio press viewed the situation with continued pessimism and went him one further by saying the dispatch of Saburo Kurusu, special envoy now in Washington, was the last chance to avoid a break.

After outlining steps leading up to the Japanese-United States tension Togo said:

"Views of the two countries have generally been made clear thru conversations which have now lasted more than six months, and consequently I believe it must be evident to the United States government that, viewed even from a technical angle, there is no necessity of spending much time on negotiations hereafter.

Describes "Firm Attitude."

"Such being the circumstances, the Japanese government is bending its best efforts to successful conclusion of negotiations, but there is naturally a limit to our conciliatory attitude.

"Should an occasion arise such as might menace the very existence of our empire or compromise the prestige of Japan as a great power, it goes without saying that Japan must face it with firm and resolute attitude.

"For my part I am taking charge of negotiations with a firm resolve regarding this point."

He said the United States and Japan could reach an agreement on two conditions:

"If the government of the United States is, on one hand, as genuinely solicitous for world peace as is the imperial government [of Japan], and, on the other, understands Japan's natural requirements and her position in east Asia and considers the

Bribe Offer in Bride Death Quiz Charged

MONTERREY, Mexico, Nov. 16 [Special].—A startling turn was given the investigation into the death of Mrs. Ada Torrance, 70 year old bride of the explorer and scientist, Dr. Arthur Torrance, 54, when Chief of Police Ernesto Balli charged tonight that Torrance had offered him $1,000 if he would drop the investigation.

Dr. Torrance had been arrested at 3 a. m. today and charged with murder of the former Kalamazoo woman, with whom he had been on a honeymoon for two weeks when she died of a fractured skull following a purported automobile accident.

Torrance, who had been confined in a cell six feet square at the Monterrey penitentiary following his transfer from a hotel, where he had been held incommunicado, tonight, was moved to a well lighted and aired cell with bed and decent facilities. He had complained that he was ill and had asked for a doctor.

Loveland Pushes Quiz.

It was last Monday, according to Chief Balli that Torrance offered the $1,000 in American money. This was two days after Mrs. Torrance's death. Balli asserts Torrance made the offer supposedly because he was anxious to get back to the United States.

On the day of the alleged bribe offer, William Richard Loveland, of Los Angeles, a government employé, arrived at Monterrey to demand an inquiry into the death of his mother. Loveland questioned Torrance's version that she had struck her head on a rear view mirror of her automobile when forced off a highway near Monterey by a bull.

Torrance Worn by Quiz.

Torrance showed the strain of the questioning when he was taken from his hotel bed to the cell this morning. He appeared tired and his eyes were red. One of the prison attendants asserted precautions had been taken to prevent the possible suicide of the suspect.

The outstanding piece of evidence which has been offered thus far concerns a thermos bottle. Police asserted that they had found shattered bits of a thermos bottle in the automobile following the tragedy.

Then yesterday a witness appeared, a 12 year old newsboy, Carmen Marin Alvarado, who asserted he had seen Dr. Torrance on the banks of the Santa Catarina river near here burning a mysterious paper wrapped parcel. From this package, the police say they retrieved glass fragments. These bits they are seeking to match with parts of the bottle found in the car.

He Shows Excitement.

Torrance was questioned at great length concerning this discovery. His self-control broke down when the questioners continued to ask details about the capacity, color, and shape of the bottle. He leaped from his seat and asked:

"Why do you insist about the thermos bottle? Why don't you ask me the whereabouts of the rest of the baggage?"

On his way to the prison Torrance was silent and depressed. He was held incommunicado thruout the day, with a break only when he was visited by Chief Balli, who took him a handful of cigars.

Tonight Arturo L. Guerra, defense attorney for Torrance, complained he had not been permitted to see his client, and asserted that he would seek his freedom on a habeas corpus writ early tomorrow.

The exhumation of the body of the 70 year old bride, which had been scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed until Tuesday.

SHOOTS WIFE TO DEATH FOR JOKING REMARK MADE TWO YEARS AGO

A joking remark made by a woman to her husband two years ago led him to shoot and kill her last night in their home at 4730 South Hermitage avenue.

The woman was Mrs. Anna Nowobilski, 29 years old. After the shooting her husband, Frank, 35, a night watchman for a packing firm, walked to the New City police station, a block away, and surrendered. Their two children, Frances, 8, and Frank, 7, were sleeping.

Nowobilski said that two years ago his wife told him she had a date with another man, but later denied it and said she had been joking. He said he had become increasingly jealous but had been unable to justify his suspicions.

On Friday he bought a .22 caliber rifle. Last night, after a heated quarrel, he grabbed the gun and fired one shot which hit his wife in the neck. She died almost instantly, he said. He was questioned by Lieut. Thomas Breen and Coroner A. L. Brodie.

Hail Pastors' Condemnation of La Guardia

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Denunciation of the canned sermon of New York's mayor, Fiorello La Guardia, for the churches of the country was greeted yesterday by a burst of applause in First Methodist church, Evanston.

The Rev. Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle, pastor of the church, called the canned sermon "the first attempt to regiment the churches of the country." The applause that followed, during public worship, broke a precedent many years old.

La Guardia, head of the Office of Civilian Defense, had requested the churches to observe yesterday as Freedom Sunday. Telephone inquiry to many ministers in Chicago disclosed that the appeal had backfired.

Call It Slavery Sunday.

Some pastors denounced the OCD's plans as something more like Slavery Sunday than Freedom Sunday.

Dr. Tittle delivered his rebuke to La Guardia in what he called a footnote to his sermon.

"At this point I feel the need of a footnote," Dr. Tittle asserted, "which would say something like this: 'The minister of First Methodist church in Evanston does not intend to use the canned sermon which, last week, was sent to him and to thousands of other American clergymen from the office of Mayor La Guardia—a sermon on freedom with whose content he fully agrees but which he feels bound to regard and deplore as the first attempt ever made in this country to regiment the churches of this country.'"

"He [the minister] recognizes the need of national unity on the level of a common devotion to great ends, but he has no confidence that national unity can be achieved by such means as this."

The congregation of the Parkside Baptist church at 69th place and Harper avenue passed a resolution which stated that the La Guardia request pointed to the destruction of religious freedom. The letter was sent to the Rev. Roland J. Brown, pastor.

ENGLAND BEATS METALS OF WAR INTO YULE TOYS

Belligerent Baubles Flood New York Shops.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 16.—War metals—reversing their flow across the Atlantic—are starting to flood New York City stores in the form of British toy soldiers, miniature guns, and other martial playthings for the Christmas trade.

Blitz or no blitz, England is tapping her stocks of stainless steel, lead, brass, copper, and tin so some American children, and some London manufacturers, may have a merry Christmas.

Whether lend-lease materials go into the belligerent baubles from Britain is a military secret. Curious minded people are told the question is not in keeping with the Yuletide spirit.

Billeted in Boxes.

The toy British soldiers and their equipment, made of cold metal and in pint size, look nonetheless ferocious, and destructive. One store is showing the empire forces by units, billeted in cardboard boxes. An anti-aircraft unit of tin and lead soldiers in khaki was a realistic outfit.

The toy troops had a gun mounted on a tripod and pointing to the sky and a searchlight which throws a real beam of light. The model anti-aircraft gun with stainless steel fittings costs $18.50.

Both soldiers and weapons were stamped "Made in England." Also on display are model Bren guns mounted on trucks, and howitzers, the latter trimmed in brass.

But No Real Ammunition.

A clerk, answering the questions of a small boy, said ammunition could not be sold with the guns because New York state laws prohibited it, but she suggested that "blank cartridges or caps" could be purchased in neighboring New Jersey.

Other tables displayed model warships of the British royal navy, constructed of tin, and sets of airplanes molded in lead, carrying characteristic markings and identified as Hurricane fighters, Blenheim bombers, and other types of warplanes.

Not forgetting the past successes of British arms, the English manufacturers also have turned out gaily painted soldiers in plastic wood, with their backsides carrying printed thumbnail sketches of the victories in which they participated.

These famous British regiments in battle dress are marching in the shop windows, deploying in the aisles, and skirmishing on the display tables of New York City stores.

The shopper finds the Coldstream guards with their big black fur shakos and crimson tunics, the Royal Scots in plaid kilts, and Lancers in resplendent red uniforms.

Among the manufacturers of the English military toys are Astra and W. L. Britain companies of London and the Meccano Company, Ltd., of Liverpool.

But toys are not the only commodity transported to the American market over the submarine infested seas, as evidenced by the literature sent out by one exclusive furniture store which calls itself "A London furniture shop in New York."

A visit to the shops revealed stocks of British antiques, or reproductions of Sheraton and Chippendale chairs, Queen Anne secretaries with inlaid English leather tops, and breakfront bookcases. Some of the pieces recently arrived by ship from England.

United States customs laws allow antiques, interpreted as anything more than 100 years old, to enter the country duty free. Newly manufactured furniture incurs heavy duties upon crossing the boundary line.

FEW MINISTERS USE LA GUARDIA SERMON OUTLINE

New York, Nov. 16 [Special].—Protestant churches thruout New York generally observed "freedom day" today, but few pastors took as their text the sermon outline that Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, acting in his capacity as director of the Office of Civilian Defense requested they use. Instead, most of the pastors, if they touched on the matter at all, probed his motives in making the suggestion.

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of Riverside church, described the mayor's action as a "foolish blunder" and asserted that it was not the business of government to write sermons for the clergy. He branded the suggestion as "un-American."

The Rev. Dr. William Ward Ayer, pastor of Cavalry Baptist declared that the church "is not a cheering section for any political program. If our government thinks so, then our government should be told kindly, but firmly that it must change its thinking if it would remain American."

KILL GERMANY, NOT JUST HITLER, NEW BRITISH CRY

Clamor for a Nation's Life Arouses Protests.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The battle cry of Britain is changing from "Hitler must be destroyed" to "Germany must be destroyed," altho there still are a few voices pleading that it is impossible to obliterate an entire race of people.

The editor of the Sunday Chronicle, under a three column headline, "There Is Only One Kind of German," deplores the fact that "there still are some who cling to the fond hope that one of these days the 'good' will rise against the 'bad' Germans, burst open the concentration camps, disband the army and make Germany a good neighbor." He adds that "with a decisive climax of the war approaching this is a delusion more dangerous than ever."

Lord Vansittart, who has consistently maintained that it is the German race itself and not the leaders that is responsible for the German policy, continues in today's Sunday Times his campaign of warning against easy peace terms for the Germans.

Indicts Pastor Niemoeller.

Replying to the recent assertion by the bishop of Chichester that a distinction could be made between the German people and the government, Vansittart indicts even Pastor Niemoeller, who, he says, "played an enthusiastic part" in the last war and "like all true Germans tried to destroy the British empire."

[The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, a member of the Confessional (Evangelical Lutheran) synod who led the opposition to Nazi dominance of the Protestant church, was a submarine commander in the World war and was awarded the Iron Cross. He was seized by the Nazis in 1937 and has been in a concentration camp since.]

Cavalcade, another weekly newspaper, warns against such propaganda under the front page headline, "Vengeance will not work." Mentioning that the reich proper comprises 80 million persons, it argues that the purpose of war is the "annihilation of systems, not races," and takes Supply Minister Lord Beaverbrook to task for saying recently, "The day of vengeance is near at hand."

"It is not good propaganda to let the oppressed people of Europe think that vengeance is the leading motive of Britain," the paper concludes. "Mass psychology changes swiftly in war. It would change for the worse if vengeance is to become the theme."

Cabinet Shakeup Hopes Slim.

Meanwhile, a member of parliament who is one of the Churchill government's severest critics told THE TRIBUNE no immediate results could be expected from the present demands in parliament for radical cabinet changes, altho the debate will last three more days. So far Prime Minister Winston Churchill has been dead set against altering his government and few of his opponents expect any sudden departure from his stand. The critics believe, however, that continued agitation will convince Churchill of the national demand for a sweeping shakeup which, they say, is now stronger and more persistent than ever before. "We hope to wear him down eventually," THE TRIBUNE's informant added.

Government critics last week comprised members of all parties in commons and many newspapers support the demands for new blood.

The Sunday Pictorial says: "We married Churchill and it has been grand, but we didn't bargain to have all his political in-laws in the kitchen."

A. Berriedale Keith, a leading authority on the British constitution, writes in Reynolds News: "Cabinet changes are needed, Mr. Churchill." He charges that Churchill has failed in one vital issue—convincing the "country that this is the most desperate crisis in which Britain ever has found herself or that nothing but concentration of the whole national force on winning victory would suffice to prevent our destruction."

Attacks Food Minister.

Reynolds News selects Lord Woolton, minister of food, for attack, charging that "in distributing food, controling prices and curbing the black [illegal] market, Woolton has piled up a black record of failure," and comments: "No wonder the people ask how long he is to continue to be a burden on the British navy and the war effort."

The Conservative Sunday Times, while welcoming Churchill's statements that Britain has attained parity with the German air force and the battle of the Atlantic is going well for Britain, states: "We think, however, he may be inclined to be overcritical of the critics."

The main criticism of the government is concentrated on production. Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, already has said that Britain must increase war output from 30 to 40 per cent and Beaverbrook has been demanding that some factories "double production."

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY BARBARA QUEST

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Al Siebert, student, 1005 East 60th street—Little Black Sambo has always been my hero. I thought he was wonderful because he could eat so many pancakes, so I tried it myself. I won't forget that either. But that made him all the greater because he could do it and I couldn't.

Rosanne Petrozz, student, 7845 Ellis avenue—Whenever I think of those long ago stories it's Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater every time. I knew the story by heart and turned to that pretty picture of the big yellow pumpkin first of all. My aunt taught me to play the song on the piano, which doubly impressed me.

Maurce Walker, cashier, 4553 Oakenwald avenue—Little Red Riding hood is the one who left a lifetime impression on me. I think the red cape and hood are what appealed to me. That might even be why red is my favorite color today. Anyway I thought she was brave to go walking thru the woods all by herself and I never tired of hearing it.

Jim Hoatson, student, 5555 Wood street—No Mother Goose stories or fairy tales impressed me like the real Blue Beard. That's all I ever wanted any one to read to me, much to my mother's dismay. Because everybody made such a fuss over my liking such a fiend I exaggerated my affection for him all the more.

Margaret Bondzinski, student, 8139 Bishop street—There are many I remember, but I'd say Cinderella was outstanding. That little glass slipper probably had much to do with it. I had a glass slipper pin tray and every time I used it I was reminded of her.

Robert Crowe, student, 1358 E. 48th street—Little Goldie Locks is the one character I can picture as clearly as tho it were only yesterday. And I rarely think of the three bears in the same story. It was the long blond curls, I'm sure. In later years I've transferred my affections to the modern Goldie with the three inch locks.

BRITISH INVASION ALARM CALLED INACTION EXCUSE

BARNSLEY, England, Nov. 16 (AP).—Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite member of parliament, said in a speech today that "the repeated suggestions of invasion [of Britain] sound suspiciously like an attempt by the government to justify its failure to take the initiative."

Shinwell, whose utterances have formed the spearhead of criticism of Churchill war policy, asserted that "If the people are told what is expected of them they will rise to the occasion, but constant warnings are leading to confusion.

"I am not convinced that invasion is likely," he added. "Hitler may have had such a project in contemplation before he attacked Russia but his hands are going to be fully occupied for a long time."

Shinwell told his audience he had to "exercise great care" because he suspected the government is "watching every word I say. I beg them not to be more afraid of me than they are of Hitler," he continued.

ROBBER WOUNDS BAKERY OWNER.

Julius Passel, 42 years old, owner of a bakery at 3229 South Halsted street, was shot in the right leg Saturday by a robber as he was making a delivery at 23d place and Princeton avenue. The robber fled without taking any money.

HONGKONG GIVES CANADA TROOPS WARM WELCOME

U. S. Volunteers Form Part of Contingent.

BY STEWART S. GRAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Nov. 16.—Smart, sturdy, service-seasoned Canadian troops disembarked from their transport here today and with bands blaring marched to Kowloon barracks thru lanes of thousands of silent but jubilant, admiring Chinese.

Their arrival, taking Hongkong's 2,000,000 people by surprise, marked the first time the garrison had been reënforced with troops from Canada.

Diving RAF planes added a noisy welcome as they saluted the convoy moving impressively thru the harbor under escort of naval craft. There was an official welcome by Gov. Sir Mark Young, Maj. Gen. C. M. Maltby, commanding the garrison, and Com. Capt. A. C. Collinson. Maj. Gen. Maltby extended the welcome personally to the officer commanding the new forces, Brig. J. K. Lawson.

Include U. S. Volunteers.

The troops, it was revealed, comprise men who volunteered for overseas service. They were said to be seasoned troops, fully trained, who had already seen overseas service. They included world war veterans, Britons, Scots, Irishmen, Scandinavians, and "possibly some American volunteers."

One officer among the new arrivals was greeted with a telegram announcing that he had become a father.

Size Is Kept Secret.

The size of the contingent was not revealed, but it was said the troops had made the trip across the Pacific in several weeks "without incident."

[In Ottawa, it was announced that altho the troops have been landed on British territory, they have not been sent to the Orient to defend the British empire. Like Canadian troops in England they were said to be volunteers fighting in a war for the defense of liberty. Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said "defense against aggression, actual or threatened, in any part of the world is today a part of the defense of every country which still enjoys freedom. It is in accordance with this view that the government has deemed it advisable to associate Canadian troops with those of the forces from other parts of the British commonwealth now stationed in the orient."]

Hongkong, which ranks second to Singapore in British strongholds in the far east, is on the south coast of China about 750 miles northwest of Manila. In the event of war in the Pacific the base would be of highly strategic value to the American as well as British fleets.

U. S. Marines Ready to Leave.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 17, Monday (AP).—American marines here and in Peiping and Tientsin, who have been ordered out of China by President Roosevelt, indicated today they were ready to depart. When transports will arrive to take them away or where they are going was not revealed here. Unconfirmed reports said an American ship to carry the outfit was en route.

The general opinion was that the marines would head for the Philippines.

Japanese official circles continued silent on the marines' withdrawal, terming the matter "an American affair," but the local Japanese press called it "an act hostile to Japan, indicative of America's spirit of noncoöperation."

American and British residents in China are expected to prepare to leave the country. Steamship offices expect increased demands for travel accommodations. The British were in the midst of a "last warning" program to get their citizens from China.

TWO CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Washington, Ind., Nov. 16 (Special).—Two mechanics, James W. Brent, 33 years old, of Odon, and Walter L. Moss, 38, of Loogootee, were crushed to death by a road tamper today at the Burns City naval ammunition depot project. They had crawled under the tamper without the knowledge of the driver and were killed when he started it.

MRS. TAFT TALKS AGAINST WAR AT MEETING TONIGHT

Pettengill, former representative from Indiana, address an anti-war rally sponsored by the North Shore chapter of the America First committee tonight in Skokie school auditorium, Winnetka. The meeting starts at 8 o'clock. Two other suburban chapters of the America First committee also will hold meetings tonight. The Rev. Fred E. Frankson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Kenosha, Wis., will speak before the Oak Park chapter at 736 Lake street in the suburb. JAPANESE REVEAL DEMANDS TO END CRISIS IN PACIFIC

"When our troops entered the southern part of French Indo-China this summer in accordance with the protocol for joint defense [with Vichy representatives], Great Britain and the United States chose to regard it as a menace to their territories and froze Japan's assets in their countries, which constitutes a measure tantamount to rupturing economic relations.

Warns of "Catastrophe."

"British dominions and colonies have all followed suit and the Netherlands East Indies, too, has joined in similar steps. Great Britain and the United States have even gone to the length of establishing encircling positions against Japan by inducing Australia, the Netherlands East Indies and the Chungking régime to join in.

"Since the outbreak of the China affair, Japanese-American relations have progressively deteriorated, steadily gathering force, so that if they were left to drift without timely check, there was no knowing whether the situation would not ultimately end in catastrophe.

"Should such an eventuality occur, it would entail great suffering not only in countries in the Pacific basin but on all of mankind as well.

"Solicitous for peace as ever, the Japanese government has, since last April, carried on conversations with the government of the United States with a view to bringing about a fundamental adjustment of Japanese-American relations. The former cabinet endeavored earnestly to reach a successful conclusion of negotiations.

Praises Three-Power Pact.

"The present cabinet, in order to avert international crisis and preserve the peace of the Pacific, decided also to continue negotiations which are still in progress. I regret to say that I have not the liberty of revealing, at this juncture, the details of the negotiations."

After mentioning the Russian-Japanese war of 1904-'05 as the elimination of one obstacle to peace, Togo said:

"Fortunately, Germany and Italy having similar views with Japan, the three-power pact was brought into being. In little more than a year of its existence, as is well known, the pact has made, as intended, a great contribution toward the construction of a new order in east Asia and Europe as well as toward prevention of the spread of the war."

He said Japan intended to "subjugate the Chungking régime" and pictured her other main interests as in the North and South seas.

Japan, Togo said, had "steadfastly maintained" a policy of securing safety in the north by the Japanese-soviet neutrality pact.

CHINESE ARMY TO AID BRITAIN OR RUSSIA IF JAPS STRIKE, SAYS KOO

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—China stands ready to provide trained troops by the tens of thousands, if requested, for the defense of British Burma or of Russia if the Japanese attack, the Chinese ambassador to London, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, declared today.

Dr. Wellington Koo.

Koo said he has no information on a report that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had offered a million soldiers to the soviet union, but he indicated that this was not improbable. China has an army of 5 million with 12 million or more in reserve, he said, and China will not forget her debt to Russia.

Koo said Chiang Kai-shek has a vast army concentrated on the southern frontier of Yunnan province, southwest China, to guard against any Japanese thrust at Burma from French Indo-China. If asked, Koo said, these troops could pour across the border to help in the defense of Burma.

300 INDO-CHINA OFFICIALS PURGED BY ITS GOVERNOR

SINGAPORE, Nov. 16 (AP).—Rear Adm. Jean Decoux, governor general of French Indo-China, said in a broadcast today that "any one in Indo-China who won't coöperate fully in the new order must not expect from me weakness, indulgence, or mercy."

A new federal council of his own appointees soon will be established, he asserted, "because I want to choose only those faithful to the new order." He himself will assume the right to appoint local mayors and municipal officers.

The Vichy-appointed governor general disclosed he already had dismissed 300 officials who opposed his "new order." Of this number he said 150 were mostly "Free Masons and Jews" and the remainder Annamite natives "who had proven they could not collaborate and who were unfit physically and morally."

CHINESE PREPARE FOR JAP INVASION FROM INDO-CHINA

CHUNGKING, Nov. 16 (AP).—Chinese forces in Kwangsi and Yunnan provinces, bordering French-Indo China, were reported tonight to be blowing up bridge and destroying roads for miles to hamper any Japanese offensive from the French colony.

Pill boxes and other defense works were being erected in strategic zones, and the stream of Chinese troop reinforcements pouring southward in recent weeks showed no sign of slackening, travelers to Chungking reported.

Members of United States and British military missions to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek were being kept fully advised of the Chinese preparations, part of which they inspected.

U. S. Officers Go to Border.

The hurried departure of four more members of the United States mission for Kumming, Yunnan province, increased the belief of observers here that the Japanese were about to attempt invasion. Yunnan province borders Burma and its invasion would imperil the Burma road, China's lifeline.

Brig. Gen. John Magruder, head of the mission, was still in Burma.

Twenty United States officers have arrived in China and four more are due at Rangoon shortly. The mission's work has been widely extended thruout free China, with individual members or small groups making trips to the capitals of the provinces of Shensi, Szechwan, Kweichow, Kwangsi, and Yunnan.

See Defense of Hongkong.

The Chinese obviously were impressed with the arrival of a shipload of Canadian troops today at Hongkong. The gesture dispelled fear of some Chinese that the British might surrender Hongkong without a fight.

A Central News agency dispatch reported the Japanese rushing reënforcements to strengthen their positions at Chungmou, east of Chengchow, Hunan province. Chinese troops were said to have occupied the southern and western outskirts of the city.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Nov 17 [Monday] (AP).—The Taiyo Maru arrived here today with 447 Japanese nationals evacuated from Hawaii, the second vessel to bring Japanese from United States territory under the Japanese-American shipping arrangement. The Tatuta Maru arrived here Friday with 635 evacuees.

GERMANY TO ASK FOR PEACE, SAYS ENVOY VON PAPEN

Foresees British Refusal; Set for Long War.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

ANKARA, Turkey, Nov. 16.—Germany will make a strong bid for peace with Britain, proposing Turkey as mediator, when the German armies have concluded the "decisive phase" of the campaign in Russia, German Ambassador Franz von Papen told the correspondent of the Barcelona newspaper Vanguardia, a Fascist publication, in an exclusive declaration last week on German foreign policy.

Von Papen said Germany is willing to consider giving Britain a free hand in most of western Europe if Britain agrees to German domination and control of eastern Europe in a "new economic order" athwart the Balkans, former Poland, the Baltic states and the occupied parts of the soviet.

Foresees British Rejection.

The ambassador disclosed that his foreign office foresees the "strong probability" that Britain will reject the German overture toward an armistice and therefore is prepared for a long war.

Von Papen did not mention the United States and declined to discuss the part Japan may be expected to play in the world conflict.

As to occupied countries, he said, "no considerations, no peoples, nothing," would be permitted to block Germany's plans for the future and that objectors will be "ruthlessly exterminated."

Germany, Von Papen added, contemplates no aggression against Turkey, regarding it as a "bastion of peace" at the eastern end of the Mediterranean that complements Spain's position in the west.

Statement Creates Sensation.

The Nazi envoy's statement created a sensation among foreign diplomats in Ankara who interpreted it as the first tangible confirmation of the persistent Nazi peace offensive as voiced by the press of Germany and the occupied countries, the German controled radio stations of most of Europe and inspired travelers from the reich.

An effort to woo Britain's ambassador to Turkey, Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, was made last June when Von Papen sent a note thru a neutral emissary recommending that Britain and the reich come to an agreement, sign an armistice, and conduct a "holy war" for the extermination of the soviet. The note was completely ignored.

"Von Papen will be ignored this time, too," said a high British diplomatic source here when informed of the German ambassador's declaration.

Ship Sails Over Top of World

10,000 Mile Voyage

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 15 (AP).—The soviet navy's icebreaker Krasin is docked here after completing a 10,000 mile voyage from the White sea over the top of the world route from Russia.

Capt. N. Markov said the vessel was brought to the United States for overhaul.

The Krasin was the first ship ever to negotiate the White sea route, across the northern side of Siberia, and down thru the lonely Bering sea. She completed her first voyage about 1930, and the route has been kept open intermittently since about 1935.

Capt. Markov said he had no fear of interference from any other navy on the ice bound route.

"We can hide in the ice, if nothing else," he said, "and there isn't a warship commander afloat who would follow us in. You see the ice is our friend."

GREECE TO SEND 35,000 CHILDREN TO OTHER LANDS

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 16.—Fear that the food shortages and persecution in Greece may end or blight the lives of Greek children today lead Constantine Mouratiadi, president of the Greek Red Cross and the Greek war relief committee in Egypt, to seek the support of British leaders for a plan which, he said, would make possible the removal of 35,000 children to other countries.

The American Red Cross, which already had aided Greek refugees, may be called on for additional assistance.

"Ships are available and arrangements can easily be made or attempted, and nearby neutral independent countries are sympathetic. Greek homes all over the world have their doors open," Mouratiadi said.

SWEDISH PAPER SAYS NORSE ARE STARVED, BEATEN

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 16.—Under the headline, "an entire people in prison," the Swedish provincial newspaper Eskilstuna Kuriren gives details about conditions in Norwegian concentration camps.

A fifth concentration camp is expected to be established soon as the special camp of the Norwegian gestapo. The correspondent says the camps are being placed at the disposal of the Hirden—Maj. Vidkun Quisling's storm troopers—and "new decrees promulgated by the Quisling administration are eliminating the last pretense of law."

Particular attention is paid by the Hirden to the so-called physical exercises, to which arrested trade union people are usually subjected, the paper says. If any one falls from exhaustion during the exercises, he is beaten until he rises to his feet again. The writer says prisoners are virtually starving. At Grini, prisoners get potato soup and six slices of bread a day while at Vollan prison the food consists of potatoes and herring once a day.

F. D. R. WANTS TO BE WARDICTATOR, SAYS TOKIO PAPER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 17 [Monday].—President Roosevelt was charged here this morning with imperilling the peace of the Pacific for attainment of his ambition to become a virtual dictator.

The influential newspaper Asahi, which makes the accusation, ridicules the Roosevelt contention that he is fighting for democracy and emancipation of races. It maintains that if this is the case the United States should fight Britain, which, it says, has enslaved the races of India, Malay, and Africa. Japan fervently hopes that the masses in the United States, by reëxamining President Roosevelt's foreign intervention policy, will enable peace to be maintained in the Pacific, it adds.

"The fact that American political circles and the American people in general do not necessarily approve President Roosevelt's challenging foreign policy is clear from the circumstances connected with passage of the neutrality act amendments. Even if the American people may support American aid to Britain, they cannot discover a legitimate reason why they should come to a frontal clash with Japan."

INSULATE MEAT, SHIPS WITH LARD TO AID ENGLAND

Chicagoans Solve a Knotty Problem.

How the ingenuity of Chicago meat packers has made it possible to ship millions of pounds of perishable meats and lard to England in ordinary freighters without refrigeration facilities, was disclosed yesterday.

Since the war began, transportation of perishable foods to the British Isles has been one of England's biggest problems. The British produce only a small fraction of their meat and dairy requirements. Holland and Denmark once were rich sources of supply, but the Nazis took them, forcing the British to turn to the United States and Canada.

An Acute Problem.

At this point, however, the lack of the hundreds of necessary refrigeration ships presented an acute problem. And what's more, many of the small number of such vessels on hand when the war began had been sunk.

For the answer, the British food ministry early last summer sent a representative to Chicago. He put the problem up to the American Meat institute and its meat packer members. Chicago technicians went to work.

One of them mentioned that if they could find some fatty substance with which they could line the sides of ordinary vessels they would have one of the finest insulating materials.

Lard Is the Answer.

Lard was the answer. It was among the first things the British had sought in this country. It made a perfect insulating material. Here is how the American Meat institute says the job was done:

"In preparing the meats for shipment in nonrefrigerated space, they were frozen, box and all, to extremely low temperatures and quickly placed in steamer holds.

"Instead of the usual insulation—expensive, scarce, and space consuming—the ship's bottom and sides were insulated with lard, which also had been boxed and frozen at below zero temperature. The holds were sealed by placing more of the hard frozen lard on top of the meat."

NAZIS SEIZE FORT IN SEVASTOPOL'S RING OF DEFENSES

Declare 44 Moscow Tanks Put Out of Action.

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—Bullets whistled thru sifting snowflakes, aviators flew blindly thru blizzards, and gunners blazed away at tanks charging thru the snowy murk on a wide region of the eastern front today, German reports said.

A trickle of war dispatches indicated fighting flared with greatest intensity in the Moscow sector and said at least 44 attacking soviet tanks were left smoking on the blood stained snow.

German accounts emphasized the severe weather and stalled Russian counterthrusts, but reported few territorial gains for the Germans. One of these gains was announced by the high command, which said a "stiffly defended fort" in the ring of Sevastopol's defenses in the Crimea had been captured.

Capture 103 Defense Posts.

In the Leningrad area a further report said two companies of engineers took 103 defensive positions around Tikhvin, important railway junction 110 miles east of Leningrad which the Germans have announced was captured on Nov. 8.

One German aviator said snow in the air so reduced visibility that he was obliged to approach his targets flying blind, and that only thoro reconnaissance in hours of good visibility made it possible to reach his objectives at all.

Many of those objectives were said to be soviet tanks buried in the frozen earth with only their firing towers protruding to serve as emergency casemates. In the Moscow area many Russian tanks made numerous charges against the German lines, and in at least one major attack the Germans claimed to have destroyed 29 in a sharp hour-long battle.

Quit Making Predictions.

Artillery and bombers continued to hammer at Sevastopol and Kerch in the Crimea, but the Germans no longer were making predictions as to the fate of the key cities.

Berlin commentators attached some importance to reports from Turkey that soviet motorships were crossing the Black sea with refugees to the Turkish port of Inebolu. In an effort to present a dreary picture of Russian prospects in the Crimea the commentators said the exodus from that peninsula was under way.

On the northern end of the air force's far-flung operations, the Russian garrison on Rybachi [Fishermen's] peninsula, Murmansk and the Murmansk railway were reported bombed for the third successive day. Railroad bridges were reported destroyed also in another unnamed area.

The high command said 2,174 Russian planes had been destroyed from Oct. 1 to Nov. 8, and only 183 German planes were lost.

Finns Capture Positions.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 16 (AP).—A Finnish communique said today that about 100 fortified Russian positions on the eastern front had been destroyed, and reported considerable artillery and mortar fire on the Hango, Karelian isthmus and Svir river fronts.

NAZIS BOMB PORT AND STEEL MILL IN BRITISH RAIDS

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—The outstanding week-end action against England was an air attack against Middlebrough, the high command said today. Informed sources said bombs hit blast furnaces and rolling mills in a day attack, and that other planes delivered an attack on the harbor of Scarborough.

Two small merchant ships were reported sunk near the Faroe Islands and off Peterhead and two others were damaged, while in a night encounter in the English channel with German patrol boats one British speedboat was declared to have been sunk.

Weather Cuts Air Losses.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Air losses for the last week, when weather sharply curtailed operations, were the lowest of the year in western Europe and the middle east. Eight axis and 23 RAF planes were lost, according to British figures. The week before the RAF lost 37 planes in one night. Last night British bombers, despite heavy clouds and severe icing conditions, attacked Emden and other ports in northwest Germany. Docks at Boulogne also were bombed.

FIRE ROUTS 50 IN FLAT.

Crossed wires under a rug were blamed for a fire last night in the apartment of Samuel Arnoff, 1339 South Central Park avenue. More than 50 residents of the three story building were driven out by the smoke. Chief Samuel Shonfield of the 28th battalion estimated the damage at $100.

Developments in Russian War

Developments yesterday in the war in Russia are told in captions. Information is based on dispatches from both sides in conflict.

BRITONS WARNED GREATER WAR AID COMPULSION NEAR

Seek Million Married Women for Jobs.

MIDDLESBOROUGH, England, Nov. 16 (AP).—Britain's labor minister, Ernest Bevin, told the British people today that they may be subjected to greater government compulsion than they have ever known in order to win the war, and he hinted that women will have to play a larger rôle.

Ernest Bevin.

Seemingly implying a further extension of government control over the war effort, Bevin said in a public speech in this Yorkshire town that it is better to suffer temporarily than be in "perpetual slavery" under the Nazis.

"Can't Say It Can't Be Done."

Britain cannot afford in the next year to hear the words "It cannot be done," he said, because that might mean defeat. The British must not worry too much about profits and wages, he added.

Forecasting changes in handling of a vexing man power problem, which is likely to be one of the most controversial raised in parliament during the days immediately ahead, Bevin announced that "I want to get at least a million married women either on full time or part time work."

Needs "Mobile Women" Elsewhere.

Bevin said he wanted married women to work in munitions, distributive trades, offices, and commercial enterprises in order to release "young, mobile women."

The minister announced he would soon take steps to see that no man or woman is left not doing a job which he or she should be filling. He said the first step would be to eliminate the age and occupational reservations from the law and place exemptions from military service on an individual basis. The latter move has been predicted for some time.

WHISPERING ROBBER GETS $65.

CLAIM NAZIS BUILDING 'INVASION BOATS' IN PORTS ON BLACK SEA

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 14 [Delayed] (AP).—An American traveler who arrived here today said diplomatic information in Rumania indicated that Germans were building "small invasion boats" in many towns along the Rumanian and Bulgarian Black sea coasts.

The use for these boats was not clear, the informant said, but they were reported to be fit only for short stretches of water.

WEYGAND MEETS PETAIN AS NAZI ENVOY DEPARTS

French African Army Key to 'New Order' Moves.

VICHY, France, Nov. 16 (AP).—Gen. Maxime Weygand, a key figure in French-German politics because of his control of the untried French army in North Africa, arrived in Vichy on a flying visit today and was driven at once to Marshal Petain's "White House," the Sevigne pavilion.

Gen. Maxime Weygand

Weygand's visit apparently was decided upon at the last minute. Otherwise, it appeared, he would have come in time for the funeral yesterday of Gen. Charles Huntziger, war minister and a member, as is Weygand, of the old "army group."

Misses Meeting Nazi Envoy.

The North African proconsul's appearance here came just after Otto Abetz, German ambassador to Paris, suddenly changed his plans yesterday and remained in Vichy for long conversations with Petain.

[Advices to the Associated Press in New York yesterday from well informed European sources said the Vichy government is near a final decision on entrance into Adolf Hitler's new order, as well as on use of the French fleet for convoying in the Mediterranean, and a change of administrations in North Africa.]

The Nazi representative was reported to have visited former Vice Premier Pierre Laval at his Chateldon castle this morning. He then had a long talk with Petain.

Authorized sources said the talks "could not be described precisely as negotiations" but said they "certainly indicated willingness to carry on negotiations."

It was announced that Gen. Alfonso Jiun, commander of French forces in Morocco, mentioned as one of the candidates to succeed Huntziger, was received by Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan today preparatory to returning to North Africa.

BRITISH FORM NEW DESERT ARMY ON LIBYAN FRONTIER

Italians Claim 3 of Foe's Merchantmen Sunk.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 16 (AP).—The formation of a new British army in the western desert facing Italian Libya was announced today. It is called the 8th army. In the air war Brindisi, Italy, and freight yards at Catania, Sicily, were bombed Friday night, as were a number of Libyan objectives.

Sink 3 British Vessels.

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Italian high command claimed today the sinking of three British steamers in the Mediterranean as Italian planes struck back after a black week for their own shipping and cities. Two of the steamers were said to have been sunk by bombs in the eastern Mediterranean and one, of 10,000 tons, by an aerial torpedo in the western Mediterranean.

The high command issued a new report on the British bombing of Acireale, Sicily, on Friday night, increasing the number of dead from 12 to 21 and the wounded from eight to 29.

The daily war bulletin said Italians in the Gondar section of Ethiopia had smashed violent new British attacks there, killing hundreds and striking back with offensive thrusts.

Eight British planes were destroyed—seven of them by German airmen—said the communique. Three of these were destroyed on the ground in a raid on the Giarabub oasis in North Africa.

[Gondar is the only part of Ethiopia still held by Italy, and its defense has become a legend among the Italians. Rarely a day goes by without Italian newspapers writing of "the heroic fight" put up by a small body of men, who tho besieged and without means of obtaining fresh supplies, are resisting British attempts to wipe out the last vestige of Italian rule in Ethiopia.]

Dissatisfaction at Gondar?

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, Nov. 16 (AP).—Reports were received today that dissatisfaction is growing within Gondar because of the scarcity of food and the failure of promised German aid to arrive. Deserters from Gondar said that on Nov. 11 colonial infantrymen outside the town mutinied and were suppressed only after severe fighting.

Continued pressure by British empire troops has forced the Italians to abandon all positions south of Azozo on the Gondar road, with the exception of Gondar itself. British troops are closing in at Celga and Kulkaber. British planes bombed objectives at Celga, the Azozo airdrome, and troops and trucks on the Azozo-Gondar road.

GERMANY SPURNS MEXICO HOSTAGE SLAYING PROTEST

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—The German foreign office has rejected Mexican "observations" on German reprisals in France—a rejection which stands for all other nations contemplating similar representations.

The foreign office note to the Mexican legation here was announced today but not published.

DNB, official news agency, however, issued a commentary at some length interpreting the German stand. This said that Germany deserved sympathy for her own bloodshed rather than criticism for efforts "to liberate Europe and the whole world from the pest of bolshevism."

Reveal Mexican Protest.

DNB said the Mexicans recently submitted a statement from their government on measures taken [the shooting of 50 hostages each at Nantes and Bordeaux] following the killing of two men of the German armed forces.

[A broadcast Saturday night on the Paris Mondial radio carried an announcement that two Spaniards had been arrested as the assassins of Lieut. Col. Paul Friedrich Hotz, German commander at Nantes. He was shot Oct. 20.]

The official news agency commentary said that the measures were designed to "put an end to the Anglo-Saxon effort to encourage the spread of bolshevism and all its blood manifestations in Europe and that such measures consequently must be regarded as an urgent humanitarian step."

"Precisely in Mexico there should be an appreciation of the dangers which hang over Europe as a result of Anglo-Saxon-Russian policies because of the well known example of bolshevik rule in Spain," the commentary continued.

Cites Murders in Spain.

"In the course of this rule many thousands of hostages in the persons of men, women, children, priests, nuns, etc., were murdered in a most bestial manner by the Red Spaniards, many of whom found asylum in Mexico after the Franco victory.

"Their presence should make Mexico aware of how terrible and great was the menace involved in the extension of bolshevism."

[The Argentine foreign minister, E. Ruiz Guinazu, said in Buenos Aires yesterday that his government had received no reply to a note it sent to Berlin urging that executions of hostages in occupied territories be halted. "However," Guinazu added, "the object of the appeal, which was of a simple, humanitarian nature, was accomplished by the very fact that it was sent." Similar pleas to Germany have been made by Chile and Costa Rica.]

JOHN WARNER TALKS ABOUT BALDNESS

In a talk over the radio, John E. Warner, the nation's leading scalp specialist said: "Take care of your hair while you have it, for baldness is a permanent condition. Nearly every day I am asked to grow hair for someone who has waited too long—and, of course, I have to tell such individuals that I can't help them. To the man who is losing his hair I can, in such cases as I accept, be sure of saving and improving the hair through progressive steps of medication and treatment."

Statistics show that as much as 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness, such as dandruff, itchy scalp and excessive falling hair—you should consult John E. Warner Associates without delay.

There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN—NOT IN ADVANCE. Hours, 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily, Saturdays to 6 P. M. There is a separate department for women. REDS IN CAROLINA CAPTURE DRUM, BLUES GENERAL

Seized Near Quarters of Rival, Gen. Griswold.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wadesboro, N. C., Nov. 16.—Lieut. Gen. Hugh Drum, commander of the 1st army, and leader of the Blue forces in the "battle of the Carolinas," was captured today near the headquarters of the enemy Red forces, commanded by Maj. Gen. O. W. Griswold.

The general was reported seized by members of Company D of the 82d reconnaissance battalion, part of the 2d armored division. He was released an hour later.

The Reds, numbering 104,000, appeared to have wound up the day with an advantage over the numerically stronger Blues, who had 200,000, in this first day of the Carolina maneuvers which will last two weeks.

However, they had had some setbacks during the day.

They Move at Dawn.

Sharply at 6:30 a. m., the Red army streaked into action. The 1st armored division, which bivouaced last night on the west bank of the Catawba river, moved eastward along highways 9, 200, and 74 under the command of Brig. Gen. Orland Ward with the main body following under the command of Maj. Gen. Bruce McGruder. Also following was the 31st [Dixie] division.

The 2d armored division [Red] began its advance at the same time along a parallel route to the south while the 4th motorized infantry brigade was on the left flank several miles to the north followed by the slow moving 43d square division.

Meanwhile the Blue army struck westward across the Pee Dee river, the simulated international boundary between the hostile forces, moving its first infantry units across several bridges 15 miles from Wadesboro. At 10:30 a. m., Gen. Ward announced that the Red advance group had occupied Wadesboro and would push on.

Gen. Ward Asks Aid.

But at 1 p. m. he was calling frantically for reënforcements, explaining in his radio messages to general headquarters that the first of the enemy Blue forces advancing on the town had been contacted by the van of his group. He would be unable to advance farther without help, he said.

Up to this point, the mechanized Red fighters had advanced 100 miles while the slower moving Blues had yet to get any appreciable number of men across the river. Only one battalion of Blues had crossed the river by 8 a. m. when Red bombers blew up the bridge. The structure was not declared repaired until 12:30 and meanwhile one more Blue battalion crossed in assault boats.

Red Communications Fail.

The Red fighters now were in a position to move on the bridge and take it over. But the Red communications failed, and reënforcements did not arrive, so the chance was lost.

The Reds suffered the loss of four tanks when a lieutenant in charge of an advance point brought them down the road bumper to bumper instead of 300 yards apart. They thus became easy prey for anti-tank guns in the hands of enemy infantry.

Throngs of Sunday picnickers and sightseers were a hindrance to the fighting forces today.

PETAIN MAKES 29 AIDS PREFECTS IN FRENCH SHAKEUP

VICHY, France, Nov. 16 (AP).—In a sweeping shakeup of local administrations the Petain government named new prefects today for 29 of France's 93 departments, or provinces. The changes provided new regional prefects for groups of departments surrounding Marseilles, Clermont-Ferrand, and Dijon.

It was explained semiofficially that the changes were made in order to reward administrative officers who have rendered signal services to the Petain régime. Five of the outgoing prefects, including the regional prefects of Marseilles and Clermont, either have "retired or been called to other functions." Others were either promoted or demoted.

RUMANIAN PARTY TO VISIT HITLER FOR CONFERENCES

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—Mihail Antonescu, vice premier of Rumania, is to leave for Berlin tomorrow for consultations by invitation of Adolf Hitler, reliably informed sources said today. It was reported financial and territorial problems would be discussed. Accompanying Antonescu will be Alexander Badautza, propaganda minister, and W. O. Cizek, assistant director of the Rumanian press.

[Mihail Antonescu is a nephew of Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu of Rumania and became a minister without portfolio in his uncle's cabinet on Jan. 27, 1941.]

IF NECESSARY TO STOP HITLER U. S. WILL BE READY TO GO TO WAR

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP).—The United States will be ready to declare war this year if it becomes the only way to stop Adolf Hitler, Sen. Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] declared tonight at a Jewish meeting here.

"I pray to Almighty God that we may shun it," he asserted. "But there are some things more important to the people of the United States than peace—and among these are liberty and the right to pursue peaceful lives of their own will.

"We have never been afraid to defend these things in the past, and if it comes to a last resort, we'll not be afraid in 1941," Barkley said. "America is not safe from invasion—economically or politically. We had no part in producing the last war, and we had no part in producing this one—unless it was because we stopped fighting too soon. The only way to stop war is to make those who produce it suffer from it."

Hunt Harvard Professor After Empty Boat Is Found

Woods Hole, Mass., Nov. 16 (AP).—J. Malcolm Forbes, socially prominent Bostonian, was reported missing tonight after coast guardsmen found his 10 foot skiff. He had been fishing off Naushon Island. Two coast guard boats and a plane went out after a fog lifted today when the captain of a freighter reported finding the small boat. Forbes, 39 years old, a cousin of W. Cameron Forbes, former ambassador to Japan, is a member of the staff of the Harvard university psychological clinic and formerly was a professor at Rollins and Simmons colleges.

ONE DEAD; ASSAILANT HELD.

Lee Jackson, 38 years old, colored, 1754 Marpole avenue, was stabbed to death yesterday by Willis McClain, 29, colored, 153 North Hermitage avenue. The latter is being held by police for the inquest.

PROGRESS OF 33D DIVISION DRAWS PRAISE, BLAME

Some Officers Reported Incompetent.

BY JACK THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Nov. 16.—National Guard troops and draftees of Illinois' 33d division have been visibly improved by their eight months of training. Their military proficiency compares favorably with the other fine divisions of the 2d army. However, there is still much room for improvement in the officer personnel of the regiments.

This is the judgment of professional soldiers—regular army officers—who have observed the training program since last March. As members of the staff of the 2d army, these officers have served as the instructors of the former citizen-soldiers.

Transport Work Praised.

One of these observers was enthusiastic over the progress shown by the troops of Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, division commander. He praised the division's work in solving the transport problems in the fall maneuvers in Louisiana and Arkansas.

"It's a tribute to the dexterity of the 33d's truck drivers that a couple of dozen men weren't killed, the way the entire division had to pick up and move, sometimes twice a night, during a blackout," he said. "As it was there were only five dead—four of these in motor accidents—far fewer than 2d army headquarters expected."

These professional observers were equally frank in criticizing the inefficiency of some officers. They expressed the hope that the war department's plan to replace field officers who are over age for their grade or are incompetent will eliminate many weak spots in the division's officer personnel.

Propose Switch of Officers.

The staff men also assert the division would benefit if its officer personnel was lumped with that of one or two other divisions and then reassigned. Thus the bonds of political indebtedness and civilian friendship would be eliminated, allowing merit and ability to rule promotions and assignments, they declared.

As one regular army officer expressed it:

"In a National Guard division there is often fear of hurting some one's feelings by replacing an inefficient commander, who might thus lose cast with the folks back home.

"As a sample of possible injustice suppose a captain who is a lawyer in the home town, has occasion to discipline a boy from the same town. He knows the young man will probably write to his father causing the latter to take his law business away from the captain's firm. Such situations are a bad influence in a military outfit.

Other Faults of Officers.

"Some of these former guard officers haven't kept pace with military developments during peace time. Their minds lack imagination and the capacity to grasp new techniques."

These professional checker-uppers also suggest there is room for improvement in the caliber of some of the junior officers. During peace time, they say, some of these lieutenants were commissioned from the ranks, not because they showed outstanding ability as leaders, but only because there was no one else to do the routine work.

"The 33d has a good complement of competent and able officers," added one of the army observers. "They have shown a willingness to learn and have worked hard in training the men. But the division will be much benefited when its incompetents are eliminated."

NOW'S THE TIME TO GIVE SMOKES; MANY DOING IT!

Tobacco and Drug Firms Move to Aid Yanks.

"Smokes for Yanks!"

It's a hurry up call. Next year won't do, if you really want those boys on guard in American bases from Iceland to the Caribbean and on patrol duty in the Atlantic to know you're thinking of them. Next month won't do. Tomorrow won't do.

Today's the day, contributors are saying when they leave their gifts. If you're going to send a check, or send cigarets, they suggest you do it today.

Lynn U. Stambaugh, national commander of the American Legion, gave his hearty indorsement to the campaign yesterday, joining with the Illinois and Cook county Legion organizations that are helping the cause.

Calls It "Reassuring Sign."

Stambaugh, a Fargo, N. D., lawyer, telegraphed from Rochester, Minn.:

"I am very happy to learn of the 'Smokes for Yanks!' drive initiated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Aside from the comfort and pleasure that our soldiers will derive from the smokes, I am confident that they will regard this project as a reassuring sign that we are all united in support of our national defense effort, of which they are the spearhead."

Chicago drug and tobacco merchandising firms which pledged themselves to collect 200,000 packages of cigarets launched their division of the "Smokes for Yanks!" program yesterday, establishing receiving stations in hundreds of stores.

Those Who Coöperate.

Those coöperating in this effort are the W. F. Monroe Cigar company, the Walgreen company, the Drug and Tobacco association, the Central Cigar Stores company, the Stineway Drug company, Schermerhorn Cigar Stores, Inc., the Bernard Cigar stores, the Illinois Liggett Drug company, the United Cigars-Whelan corporation, and Carl A. Paulsen's Cigar stores.

The P. Lorillard company, which sponsors the Bob Elson and Bill Anson hour on W-G-N, donated a case of 50 cartons of cigarets to the rapidly growing supply. Elson and Anson have been boosting the "Smokes for Yanks!" campaign during their program.

Meanwhile societies and clubs, theaters and night clubs made plans for "Smokes for Yanks!" parties.

The 33d Division Men's club, composed of fathers of boys in Illinois' own 33d division, proclaimed tonight "Smokes for Yanks!" night at its headquarters in the Atlantic hotel.

Party in Restaurant.

Patrons, musicians, and performers contributed cigarets generously at a "Smokes for Yanks!" party in Eitel's restaurant at 14 West Randolph street. Henry Mueller [Herr Louie] and his Herr Louie's gang gave to the cause and urged patrons in the rathskeller to give.

Tonight and tomorrow night are "Smokes for Yanks!" nights at the Adelphi theater, 7074 North Clark street. Manager Steven Sussman will accept two packages of cigarets plus the 3 cents tax as admission, and turn the cigarets over to the campaign.

Ilona Massey, screen actress and singer, and Mary Waterstreet, Wisconsin monologuist, were among those who bought cigarets for the soldiers yesterday.

The Chicago Bears football team celebrated its victory over the Washington Redskins by showering cigarets into a "Smokes for Yanks!" box at Wrigley field.

A branch of "Smokes for Yanks!" was established in Aurora. Receiving stations were set up in business houses by Ald. Arnold Fidler and Martin O'Brien, head of radio station WMRO. Ald. Fidler is a former service man who was recently released from the army because he is more than 28 years old.

Whiting also enlisted in the campaign. Charles H. Sullivan inaugurated the "Smokes for Yanks!" movement there, with headquarters in the Iliana hotel.

Checks should be sent to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago. Cash and gifts of cigarets, cigars, and tobacco may be brought to the Tribune public service bureaus in Tribune Tower or in the loop at 1 South Dearborn street. Or you may drop your gifts in the hundreds of "Smokes for Yanks!" collection boxes thruout the Chicago district.

MRS. ROOSEVELT FINDS MIDWEST FOR AMERICA 1ST

Remoteness from War Is Reason, She Says.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, asserting that Michigan and Ohio were "one of the centers of strong America First sentiment," said tonight that their geographical remoteness from Europe's war had lulled many midwest residents into a feeling of security. She spoke of a visit to those states during her commercially sponsored radio broadcast and declared:

"I was in Michigan and Ohio and I think this is probably one of the centers of strong America First sentiment. This, I believe, is partly because of the leadership and partly because, while they are a defense production center, they feel themselves far away from the coast and find it impossible to visualize any attack from Europe or Asia. It seems practically impossible from their point of view."

Feel Themselves Secure.

Mrs. Roosevelt, when asked what would be her "answer" to "those who feel themselves geographically secure from attack from Europe or Asia," replied:

"Suppose Hitler is able to subdue the whole of Europe, including Great Britain. That would give him control of the seas and the ability to produce ships, both for war and for commerce far beyond our own ability to do so.

"If we cannot outbuild and outtrain the waves of men and machines that come over, we eventually are going under."

Ickes Assails "Appeasers."

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 [Special].—Those dissidents, "who, consciously or unconsciously, are playing the traitors' part, must stand aside while the nation marches toward the goal approved by an overwhelming majority—the defeat of Hitler," Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, said tonight. Ickes spoke at a "unite for freedom rally" at Constitution hall under auspices of the Committee to Defend America. "The appeasers, the defeatists, and even the conscious and unconscious tools of Hitler have had two years in court," he said. "Let them go on talking if they must, but let us act."

6 CONGRESSMEN FLY TO LONDON FOR WAR STUDY

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 16 (AP).—W. Averell Harriman, President Roosevelt's lend-lease expediter in London, six United States congressmen and nine United States army officrs arrived here today by clipper en route to London.

The congressman said they would study conditions in England, working of the lend-lease program and British solutions to labor problems. Maj. Gen. James Chaney, back in Europe after reporting to Mr. Roosevelt on a Russian visit, headed the army group.

Maj. Clement R. Attlee, British lord privy seal, arrived from the United States in another clipper plane. He told newsmen "Roosevelt is a good fellow," and said one of the things that impressed him most was an American factory built and in operation within 57 days.

ROSENWALD FUND FAILS TO RENAME WOOD AS TRUSTEE

America First Head Replaced by Field.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, is no longer a trustee of the Rosenwald Fund, it was learned last night. His term expired last week, and he has been succeeded by Marshall Field III of New York, a leading interventionist.

The Rosenwald Fund is a widely known philanthropic institution, established in 1917 by the late Julius Rosenwald, with an original capital of $20,000,000.

Time Limit Set.

Rosenwald died in 1932. His will specified that remaining capital and interest were to be expended within 25 years after his death. Among the current trustees is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The election of Field was voted at a meeting of fund officials in Washington, D. C., last Monday. Gen. Wood's name was not submitted for reëlection, and accordingly a vacancy was created, making possible Field's election. Gen. Wood was elected for a three year term Nov. 12, 1938.

Up to Committee.

According to Leonard M. Rieser, a trustee and counsel for the fund, trustees are eligible to a second term. Some serve only one term, he said. He declared that nothing unusual attached to the failure to reëlect the general.

Nominations are entirely up to the nominating committee, Attorney Rieser said. Members of this committee are Edwin R. Embree, fund president; Prof. Franklin McLean of the University of Chicago, and Mark F. Ethridge of Louisville. They could not be reached for comment, nor could Gen. Wood. Lessing Rosenwald, chairman of the fund, said he had "no comment" to make.

BURGLARS GET $4,300 IN FURS.

Thieves broke into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett at 3214 Lake Shore drive early yesterday or Saturday night, and stole a fur coat, a fur neckpiece, and a fur jacket, valued at $4,300. Bennett is owner of a restaurant at 5216 Sheridan road.

GOVERNOR VISITS STATE SCHOOLS FOR DEAF, BLIND

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP).—Gov. Dwight H. Green's inspection tour of state institutions brought the chief executive today to the city where the first public welfare work in Illinois began over a century ago.

The governor visited the Illinois School for the Deaf, the first state supported institution when it was founded in 1839; the Illinois School for the Blind, founded in 1849, and the Jacksonville State hospital, organized in 1848 as the first hospital for the mentally ill west of the Allegheny mountains. Most of his time was spent at the schools for the deaf and the blind, where he said he was "absolutely amazed" at the progress being made in teaching children to overcome their handicap.

At the Illinois School for the Deaf, largest of its kind in the world, he was greeted by a band whose members could not hear the music they were playing except the few equipped with electrical hearing aids. His address to the 650 students was translated to the deaf in sign language.

CIO CHIEFS BACK BOTH ROOSEVELT AND MINE STRIKE

Board Supports Campaign for Union Shop.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16.—The national executive board of the CIO today voted support of the United Mine Workers' demand for a union shop in captive coal mines. The action helped to set the stage for the opening tomorrow of the fourth annual CIO convention.

Philip Murray.

CIO policy lines are somewhat tangled. By approving a strike in the captive mines, and at the same time evidencing support of President Roosevelt's war program, the CIO got into the position of the man who wants to eat his cake and have it, too.

Note of Caution Observed.

A note of caution was observed in the wording of the executive board resolution, which merely said: "We approve and pledge our unqualified support to the UMW in its logical effort to stabilize the mining industry on the basis of a union shop."

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, warned that the pledge should not be regarded as a threat.

Asked by reporters whether sympathy strikes among the other 40 CIO unions would be in order, Murray replied he would not venture into "such a mystical field."

CIO delegates did not appear to expect a major struggle on foreign intervention, despite the fact that John L. Lewis, president of the UMW and father of the CIO, is an opponent of American entrance into the European war. After all, one delegate said, Roosevelt is the CIO's godfather.

Murray Assails Burocrats.

Murray, in his annual report today to the convention, assailed what he described as chaotic administrative disorder in the arms program.

Murray said labor has little voice in armament and that large corporations have sent their executives to dominate arms agencies. He said contracts have been concentrated in a relatively few companies.

"The numerous agencies, in their many reorganizations, have failed so far to conduct the defense program and defense production at maximum efficiency," Murray said.

"Each of the reorganizations has in itself been an admission of serious failure. In many cases the machinery of production has become so encrusted with conflicting and unwieldy burocracy that the output has been less than it would have been had no government agency been set up at all. The whole picture of the defense program so far has been one of chaotic administrative disorder."

would remain away from their jobs tomorrow.

An official of the H. C. Frick Coke company [a United States Steel subsidiary] announced "We are willing to operate tomorrow if the men report." A spokesman for Republic Steel corporation said four mines would be open if the men wanted to go to work.

Miners in the captive mines normally do not work on Sunday. Thus they were technically on strike since midnight last night, when the truce which ended a three day strike in October expired.

The steel industry would feel the effect of a complete shutdown of captive mines almost immediately. The industry's blast furnaces are consuming approximately 200,000 tons of coal a day. Estimates of coal stockpiles ranged from six days to two weeks' supply.

Plan Army Seizure of Mines.

In the shadow of this stalemate the President and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson were shaping plans to seize and operate the coal mines as an undertaking essential to national defense. They assumed that the vast majority of the miners would return to work under army protection at the invitation of the government.

For a week or more, the war department at the direction of Commander in Chief Roosevelt, has been working out plans for government operation of the mines.

The failure of the administration to bring about the labor peace achieved by President Wilson's labor board in the first World war has placed Mr. Roosevelt on the defensive. He has been deserted by a large number of Democrats who will support the anti-strike legislation proposals that will come before congress this week.

Anti-Strike Bill Ready.

A six point legislative program to halt defense strikes in the armament industries will be introduced in the house tomorrow by Rep. Howard Smith [D., Va.]. The Smith bill contains the following basic features:

1. A 30 day "cooling off" period before strikes can become effective. During that period, the labor department mediation service would seek to bring about settlements.
2. A provision "freezing" the status quo, so far as the closed shop situation in defense industries is concerned. Objective would be to make effective the 1918 war labor board policy of preventing the emergency from being used to gain advantages.
3. A ban on jurisdictional and sympathetic strikes and a prohibition against the boycott as a labor weapon.
4. Drastic penalties for violence in defense strikes.
5. A prohibition against mass picketing to keep workers from entering defense plants.
6. A requirement that secret ballots of workers in defense industries be taken under government supervision before strikes are called.

Altho the bill would not prohibit defense strikes, Smith was confident that it would reduce defense work stoppages to a minimum.

The southern group, led by Smith and Rep. Cox [D., Ga.], planned to force a showdown on the question of strike-curbing legislation as a result of the President's statement that production must go on.

COKE WORKERS' STRIKE CLOSES BLAST FURNACE

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 17 [Monday] (AP).—CIO United Mine Workers closed the coke plant of the Woodward Iron company, major independent merchant iron producer, by a walkout at 12:05 a. m. Chicago time today in support of demands for 10 cents an hour wage increase and a union shop contract.

H. A. Berg, Woodward president, said the walkout would shut down the concern's entire operations within a few days and that one blast furnace would be down today. About 220 of Woodward's 2,800 employés work in the coke plant, which supplies fuel for its three blast furnaces.

Union spokesmen said the walkout had no connection with the union's captive mine strike, which involves 1,350 Woodward coal miners.

Dig your well BEFORE you are thirsty—

TWO thousand years ago a Chinese philosopher used these simple words to urge his fellow countrymen to prepare for the uncertainties of the future.

One hundred years ago a few Americans called upon their fellow countrymen to join them in digging a "well." They called it "life insurance," and they filled it with protection against times of "thirst."

• • •

TODAY that "well" of life insurance, deep and inexhaustible, protects an overwhelming part of our population. And each year millions of Americans find their times of "thirst," of grief and trouble, eased and softened by the benefits from this "well" that was dug before they were "thirsty."

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Largest Volunteer Army.

It may be affirmed without extravagance that the free institutions we enjoy have developed the powers and improved the condition of our whole people beyond any example in the world. So large an army as the government has now on foot was never before known, without a soldier in it but who has taken his place there of his own free choice.

Washington, July 4, 1861.

THE FINNISH POSITION.

Secretary Hull's virtual ultimatum to the Finns that they would continue their war against Russia only at the cost of American friendship brought the not illogical reply from the Finnish government that, much as it values that friendship, it needs something more substantial to guarantee its people's security as a nation.

In this the Finns speak from experience. European events of the last two years have been kaleidoscopic. It may be useful to American citizens, before they decide whether they want to withdraw their friendship and sympathy from Finland, to place in order the facts of Finnish-Russian relations during that period.

Russia delivered an ultimatum to Finland demanding the surrender of territory, inhabited by Finns, constituting an important part of the Finnish industrial system and constituting as well the only feasible zone for the protection of Finland against Russian invasion. When the ultimatum was refused, Russia attacked. Finnish cities were subjected to cruel bombing, in many instances senseless from the military standpoint.

The Finnish defense aroused widespread sympathy in the United States, including that of Mr. Roosevelt, who characterized Russia as "a dictatorship as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world" and contrasted it with the "liberal, forward looking democracy" of Finland. But all the Finns got was sympathy. They didn't get any AEF. They didn't get any munitions. They didn't get any planes.

As the weight of numbers and superior armament began to tell, their defense line was broken and they were forced to make such a peace as they could with Russia. By the terms of that peace the Russians took the richest tenth of Finland.

Thru the uneasy 15 months which followed, the Finnish government has charged in an official statement, Russia repeatedly breached the so-called peace treaty with further demands and seizures, giving every evidence that it had no intention of keeping its pledged word and that its aggressions against Finland were not finished.

One of the first acts of the Russian government when Hitler attacked it last summer was to begin bombing raids against Finland. These raids continued for four days before the Finns declared war and moved their troops against Russia.

The Finnish forces have now regained part but not all of the territory stripped from their country by the 1940 peace treaty. The Russians still occupy the important Finnish fortress of Hango as well as a number of islands.

At other points in the north the Finnish forces have driven past the boundary as it existed before the Russians attacked in 1940. It is only in this area that the Finns could by any twist of logic be said to be waging a war of aggression. They do not consider it such a war.

This is their case as regards East Karelia, the Russian held territory in which their northern forces are now operating: The population of this territory is 90 per cent Finnish. It will be recalled that when the communists set up a Quisling government in anticipation of installing it in power in Finland after the conquest they called that government the Karelian republic. The Finns say that East Karelia was for a thousand years the well-spring of their culture and national spirit.

Geographically, the only defensible military boundary between northern Finland and Russia is in Russian held Karelian territory, and consists of a chain of lakes behind which the Finns might hope to defend themselves against invasion if the Russians were able to turn their whole forces against Finland again as they did in 1940.

In the face of these facts Mr. Hull's ultimatum appears as one of the greatest pieces of impertinence ever addressed by one government to another. The Finns know from experience that they cannot rely on expressions of sympathy for the defense of their national integrity. Except among the fellow travelers in Washington, the practical measures they are taking to insure that integrity are not likely to alienate any American sympathy.

THE FABULOUS INVALID.

The sentencing of Willie Bioff and George E. Browne, salutary in itself, may produce another wholesome result. That is a comeback in the theater, which in Chicago has been on the decline for more than a decade. Where some of the playhouses used to stand there are now parking lots. Other theaters are dark month after month. Not as many plays come to town as in the old days.

Bioff and Browne were the bosses of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés. Together they were responsible for many crippling restrictions that contributed to the sickness of the theater. Theatrical companies were forced to create jobs which had no reason for existing. Superfluous stage hands would sit in the wings with nothing to do, puffing their pipes and drawing fat salaries.

These arbitrary restrictions were handmade for labor grafters. By threatening to force managers to hire superfluous workers, the union bosses had a made to order lever for shakedowns. By putting on extra men, they made added profits from special permits and from union fees. They couldn't lose.

If these unreasonable restrictions were removed, the theater might come back to life and the members of the union, with more legitimate work to go around, would be better off. The theater has great vitality. As George S. Kaufman showed in "The Fabulous Invalid," his play glorifying the theater, it has died a dozen deaths and yet shows a tremendous will to live. If it survived Bioff and Browne, it can survive anything. The IATSE is due for a housecleaning now that these plug-uglies are bound for the penitentiary. It should take stock of its position and remove the abuses which have hampered the craft on which it lives and which have deprived those who love the theater of countless evenings of enjoyment.

SO NOW WE'RE SUBJECTS.

A dispatch from Hongkong reports that United States Consul General Addison Southard expressed his astonishment when he heard that the British consul general in Amoy, China, had advised Britons to get out of the Fukien province and Kulangsu before Nov. 15, saying that he would refuse thereafter to accept responsibility for their safety.

Mr. Southard said that he knew nothing about the report, and added "so far as I know American subjects have not been similarly advised."

Is there here revealed a subtle premonition of Union Now which has changed an American citizen into an American subject? The reporter does not seem to have called Mr. Southard's attention to the transformation he was making in the political condition of Americans. It passed on into print as if it were a fait accompli.

The American consul general may have been merely reflecting certain tendencies which he had observed in his association with his British friends and more remotely in the new royal aspects of the White House. "Primarily and accurately speaking," says the dictionary, "subject is used only to denote one who by birth owes allegiance to a monarch or conquering state."

The American has thus far regarded himself as a citizen. It may be his bad luck to be in the state of transition and to find himself later the subject of a monarch or conquering state.

CAUSE AND EFFECT AT THE ROCK GARDENS.

State's Attorney Courtney has made public the statements of four witnesses who were present on Oct. 25 when Capt. James Fleming, chief of Sheriff O'Brien's highway police, made a raid, so-called, on the Rock Gardens, a Capone gambling house in Cicero.

The witnesses received a polite suggestion from an attendant that they retire for a few minutes while a raid was being staged. They were conducted to another room while Capt. Fleming and his men appeared and took away a few employés. Patrons then returned to the gambling room and resumed their betting, the apparatus for which had not been destroyed by the valiant raiders.

This incident should impel Mr. Courtney to connect some of the names on the gang graft records, turned over to him by THE TRIBUNE, with personnel in the sheriff's office. Cause and effect seem clearly traceable. Meanwhile, of course, Mr. Courtney can proceed with the charge of malfeasance in office against the sheriff.

LAOCOON, 1941.

While the British ministry of supply has the populace scouring the attics for old love letters in order to gather 100,000 tons of waste paper to be used in the manufacture of munitions, a British business man complains that he is deluged with so many paper forms and so much printed instruction that he has ceased trying to cope with it. His moderate sized business is under no fewer than 40 government controls.

The problem of the British business man is becoming increasingly familiar to his cousin in America. If the statue of Laocoön were to be executed today, the serpents would give way to red tape.

Meanwhile, Norbert A. McKenna of the Office of Production Management has called for the more efficient use of chemical papers. In the next year, he says, 21½ million tons must do the same job that 25 million tons were required to accomplish before. Defense will consume about 30 per cent of the available supply.

All this calls to mind the existence of the house committee on the disposition of executive papers, headed by Rep. Alfred J. Elliott of California. Under the law, no federal agency may dispose of any papers without authorization of congress. When an administrative bureau wants to get rid of some papers it must submit its list to the archivist, who recommends to Rep. Elliott's committee that the papers may be destroyed. Congress then must vote destruction.

SAFEGUARDING OUR INTERESTS.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Senator Vandenberg's timely questions regarding lend-lease repayment, altho directed at foodstuffs, apply to the whole field of lend-lease aid to Britain.

The original lend-lease act provided that "the benefit to the United States may be payment or repayment in kind or property or any other direct or indirect benefit which the President deems satisfactory." That was enacted seven months ago. Yet, to date, only a basis for negotiations respecting repayment has been discovered.

The time to determine if we are to get any part of this vast sum back is now. After the war will be too late.

All we got out of World war I. was IOU's—which we still have. Our allies took the territorial spoils, thus obtaining great commercial gains.

We want no new territory from this war but we cannot be content with another settlement like that following the last one. The fear that, thru lend-lease, we are piling up another burden of debt for American shoulders to carry doesn't exactly contribute to national unity.

The people have a right to expect that in all matters connected with the war their interests will be at least as vigilantly safeguarded by their leaders as Britain's are by Mr. Churchill and his colleagues.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

NOVEMBER ALMANAC.

1st—All Saints' day, and general gratitude because a rainy night had washed most of the witches off their broomsticks.

3d—The Hunters' Moon, supposed to smile benignly upon manly fellows who are out in the fields trying to kill the few rabbits that have escaped the summer's automobile wheels.

5th—Guy Fawkes day in London, celebrated in a folkiorish way because it is the anniversary of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot in 1605. In our higher state of civilization, gunpowder plots are called statesmanship, and it is not wise to discover them until 20 years afterward.

7th—Surprise! Premature snow.

11th—Armistice day, when the world took a vow in 1918 that there should be no more war. Also the day on which the Chicago anarchists were hanged in 1887.

13th—You know how congress voted. "Gun-Runners' day"?

15th—The more or less irresistible force met the probably immovable obstacle in Dyche stadium.

19th—The birthday of James A. Garfield, 20th President of the United States, and also of the author of this almanac, who will celebrate by doing a day's work as usual.

20th—Thanksgiving day by proclamation, but not according to tradition. Many people will recall the old saying, "A holiday divided against itself cannot stand."

22d—The sun enters the sign of Sagittarius at 12:39 p. m., but who cares? The last college football game will be played, and O, the difference to us!

27th—The real Thanksgiving day, which hopes to be restored to general favor next year. [However, the official proclaimer has been known to break promises.]

28th—Publication of the Line Book of 1941.

November, so-called because it was the ninth month in the Roman calendar, narrowly escaped being renamed in honor of the Emperor Tiberius. But the old tyrant was more modest than modern dictators, and wisecracked his servile legislature into tabling the resolution. He said, "What will you do, O conscript fathers, when you have had 13 Caesars?"

WHY BE THANKFUL?

I'm thankful for the stars that shine,
Despite a devastating war;
I'm thankful for the mooing kine
(Altho the "mooing" I abhor).

I'm thankful for the subway trains
That we still hope some day to get;
I'm thankful for the pouring rains
(Altho I don't like getting wet).

I'm thankful that we have free speech
(Tho no one listens to my word);
I'm thankful for the owl's dole screech,
E'en tho its sound makes my blood curd.

I'm thankful that the sky is blue
(Altho I sometimes like it hazy);
I'm thankful that I've work to do,
Despite the fact that I am lazy.

I'm thankful that I still have dough
To buy some gas (if not a tankful),
But I'm most thankful since I know
That I've good reason to be thankful.

Opera Adopts an Old Roman Custom.

Apropos of Marcia Winn's lyrical outburst [TRIBUNE, Nov. 7] in reporting the use of perfume at the Civic Opera house:

It was customary among the ancient Romans to scent the stage and even the auditorium with saffron and wine. Says the elder Pliny: "Saffron, when pulverized, unites very well with wine, especially sweet wine, for filling theaters with fragrance." You will also find references to this custom in Lucretius, Propertius, Horace, Ovid, Martial and Fronto.

Seneca tells of a man who invented a way of forcing saffron to an immense height thru small pipes for this purpose. Perhaps the fullest account is in the "Metamorphoses" of Apuleius, who describes an elaborate stage setting:

"Then from the very pinnacle of the mountain, thru a certain hidden pipe, there burst forth on high saffron dissolved in wine and, pouring down in a spray, it fell upon the feeding goats in an odorous rain until . . . they changed their own whiteness for an orange color. By this time, the whole auditorium being sweetly perfumed, a chasm in the earth engulfed the wooden mountain."

Seeing Things in the Sky.

Did you see the remarkable celestial phenomenon which was visible in Chicago on Nov. 12? A radiant orb appeared in the heavens in late morning. It was really brilliant; in fact, so bright that you couldn't look at it without shading your eyes. It brightened everything, and all around it the sky was a beautiful blue—a heavenly blue, as a matter of fact.

Astronomers say that this celestial phenomenon is a heavenly body known as the sun. They claim that it has been seen in Chicago before, at some time in the dim, distant past. Is this a fact?

DON'T BAKE THE AIR IN YOUR HOME.

WITH several months of inclement weather ahead of us, we must take every precaution to defeat illness. Unfortunately, many of our colds are invited by overheating our living quarters.

Now, some of us have learned by experience that we may feel shivery in a temperature of 72 degrees F., or even 74. The cause is lack of moisture. Add 30 per cent of relative humidity and we will be perfectly comfortable at 68 degrees. The explanation lies in the behavior of the skin. The body will lose far less caloric when the rate of evaporation from the surface is reduced. This is what happens on a hot day. We feel exhausted when the mercury registers 90 and the air is "muggy." But we may be exhilarated at this same level if the atmosphere is dry because perspiration vaporized from the epidermis, is cooling.

It isn't difficult to persuade moisture to circulate within the rooms. Certain warming devices do this mechanically. With older equipment, it may be necessary to add additional vapor. Evaporating machines are available while the presence of growing plants will make a substantial difference. During a cold spell, when the windows carry long messages from Jack Frost, we may know that we have a generous quantity—enough to condense on the icy panes.

How does humidity aid breathing? A sense of constriction within the nasal passages furnishes the answer. Nothing throws the mucous membranes in this area out of commission more quickly or defeats one of their most important functions than the demand that they work beyond capacity. Each time we inhale, liquid is supplied by the folds of tissue within the nose. It is taken up by the atmosphere which we breathe. Why? Because dry air must not enter the lungs and injure the delicate sacs. About a pint and a half of water is given off each day by the airways.

In a "baking hot" home, every member of the family will suffer from parched nostrils. There is no oil or ointment which can replace water. In fact, instilling mineral oil within the proboscis is not advised as a substitute for what nature demands. A bit of petroleum jelly is useful if there is a tendency to crust formation, but not as a substitute for nasal thirst.

When we add dust to the above state of affairs, enough irritation may be induced to lead to an infection. We can understand, then, that the lungs must be provided with moist air—not only for the sake of well-being but to avoid trouble within the respiratory apparatus.

No one, however, should attempt to live in an environment that is actually chilly. I know many who are annoyed extremely if the temperature rises above 68 degrees F. For a large portion of the population, this reading is not only satisfactory, but healthful. But we must not forget that our older friends—with the circulation somewhat impaired—may need more warmth. In fact, it is no uncommon circumstance to find one who demands 80 degrees. Rather than maintain this high level, one who feels the cold may be induced to add more clothing. Heavy underwear is frequently the solution.

Drafts are just as dangerous as too much or too little heat—particularly if a person is not robust. Nothing reduces resistance quite so quickly as a steady, tho slight breeze—especially if no exercise is indulged in. The back of the neck, the feet, and the legs are quite susceptible. There are so many useful types of ventilators for both summer and winter that a regular intake of well dispersed fresh air can be managed.

SPRAYING PAINT.

F. O. writes: I am about to obtain a position spraying paint on various metals. Will this affect my health?

REPLY.

Much depends upon the chemical composition. If poisonous materials are used, such as lead, you should protect the skin of the face, hands, etc. In addition, you should wear a mask. Certain sprays, however, are quite innocent of harm.

RECRUIT 212 FOR THE NAVY!

Chicago, Nov. 14.—I propose that the action taken by congress in making it possible for merchant vessels to sail into belligerent ports be followed by another enactment providing for 212 reservations for extended sea voyages aboard those lucky vessels for the patriots who made the voyages possible. This should be also a must bill. There is nothing like a real sea adventure for a patriot.

ALBERT E. SCHAFER.

FROM THE FENIANS.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—We have sent a letter of thanks to Sen. Wheeler and also wish to convey this message of thanks to THE TRIBUNE for holding up to ridicule the fake propaganda organization known as the Committee for American Irish Defense.

On Monday we sent one of our members to have a talk with Mr. T. O'Donnell. He was unable to catch Mr. O'Donnell in, but did have a talk with Mr. O'Donnell's assistant and obtained several pieces of literature among which was the ever present contribution blank.

Altho filled up with reasons why the American Irish should rally around the war makers and urge that American troops should be placed at Irish bases thus signing the death warrant for the people of the homeland, this assistant knew nothing of the names sacred to all true Irishmen, namely Padraic Pearse, Terence MacSwiney, Kevin Barry, Thomas Clarke, and others. The whole setup of this organization is so transparent that it borders on the comical.

A WILD WHISTLING SWAN.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Hunter D. L. McNich who proudly displayed an 11 pound snow goose in a picture on the back page of THE TRIBUNE yesterday—which he shot near Joliet—may be interested to know that the bird he shot was a wild whistling swan and not a snow goose. The law protects the whistling swan.

Snow geese have shorter, broader wings and the wing tips are black. The neck is also shorter. I have never known a snow goose to weigh as much as 11 pounds.

Hunters would get much more out of their sport and be safer and more law abiding sportsmen if they would spend more time studying the birds.

WAS WALLACE IN LAST WAR?

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Vice President Wallace in his speech in New York Wednesday night spoke of the "noisy minority that were interfering with the administration's all-out war policy." He seems to forget that it is only a belligerent minority now running the government of this country and playing up a crisis where there should be none.

RUTH T. BRUMBAUGH.

TO THE BRAVE LEGIONNAIRE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—I hope the big brave Legionnaire who struck a young man of 22 in the face during the Armistice day parade, for handing out leaflets in favor of peace, feels proud of himself. He is only to be pitied for being so soaked in booze that he didn't know what he was doing.

Mr. Brave Legionnaire, if you didn't get the bloodthirstiness out of your system in the last war for heaven's sake why don't you go over there now? No one is stopping you. Give Hitler a punch in the mouth, instead of punching decent young men in the mouth around here! The young man you so nobly struck in the mouth is as fine and clean as can be found, and is preparing himself for a life of sacrifice and service. It would be much easier to get a fat wartime job than to be working his way thru school to receive a pittance the rest of his life. The young man had as much right to be handing out leaflets as you had to be making a fool of yourself.

THE BOY'S MOTHER.

CLASSIFYING HITLER.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Adolf Hitler is a diviner. He is a ruthless practitioner of divination which the Bible [Deuteronomy] denounces as an abomination. Like the diviners of old, Hitler relies on astrology, numerology, dreams, "voices," and the sacrifice of a particular class to make his oracles come true. His work, "Mein Kampf," is simply an extollation and crude exploitation of several pagan phases of divination.

In short, Adolf is merely a high pressure fortune teller who has tricked the German people with his neurotic dreams and hysterical prophecies.

CALL FOR SPORT EQUIPMENT.

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Nov. 13.—Would like to make a request for football, basketball, boxing, and wrestling equipment. Our football team has been practicing faithfully and I have made appeals to several southern universities but without success in securing used equipment.

I will gladly pay postage on anything or any kind of equipment any one has to offer. As athletic director for my regiment I am hoping to secure plenty of material to keep the boys going right along season after season.

REVISING OUR SPEECH.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—At the rate the radio commentators are revising the English language and discarding established pronunciations I expect any day to hear something like this:

"Flash—I have just been handed a special communique from Londone—[the papers had it hours before]—I quote: 'Washingtone has been designated by the prime ministeer as the probable permanent Shangri La. It is believed that the third dynasty has sanctioned this move and that the potentates from Akrone, Albuqueerki, Atlantis, and Altoonya will freely foster the feeling of unfettered frivolity that marks the metamorphosis of a poltroon to a patroon.' End quote! Stay tuned to this station for Charlie McCarthy." W. A. CAINE.

PROPOSES A QUADRUMVIRATE.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Recent action of both houses of congress have shown that they do not represent the people, thereby nullifying the purpose of their office. I suggest, therefore, that we amend the constitution by abolishing both legislative branches and retaining the well established quadrumvirate—viz: F. D. R., Hull, Knox, Stimpson. We might consider the vociferous Claude Pepper as a national town crier. All in favor signify by the usual sign.

BOMBER CRASHES IN MAINE WOODS; SIGHT WRECKAGE

4 on Ship; Hunters Tell of Fire After Crackup.

BULLETIN.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 17 [Monday] (AP).—A plane, believed to have been a B-18 army bomber overdue at Salt Lake air base on a return flight from Denver, crashed and burned on a ridge near Park City, Utah, 30 miles east of Salt Lake City, at 1 a. m. today. The plane carried a crew of eight.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 16 (AP).—Pilots today sighted the wreckage of a missing twin engined bombing plane in the Maine woodlands 60 miles northeast of here. They said they saw no sign of life near the ship, which carried a crew of four when it crashed.

Lieut W. O. Thompson: plane's route and scene of crash.

The bomber, a B 18-A, lost its way last night while en route to the northeast air base here. Three hunters emerging from the woods at daybreak told of seeing the plane and hearing a terrific crash at 7:30 p. m., a short time after the bomber was due here. They said they saw a blaze after hearing the crash.

Capt. N. L. Hartenburg of the air base said there were no indications any of the crew escaped alive.

Members of Crew.

The crew consisted of Lieut. P. W. Beckham, 28 years old, of Houston, Tex., pilot; Lieut. Wyman O. Thompson, 21, Underwood, N. D., co-pilot; Corp. J. L. Parson, engineer, and Private L. E. Rothernal, radio operator.

A coast guard plane guided by the hunters first spotted the wreckage six miles southeast of Oak mountain, between Lincoln and Springfield. Army flyers then circled the area.

Lieut. Malcolm Heber, flying an army attack plane, said the bomber crashed in a heavily wooded area and apparently was ripped to pieces as it plunged into trees.

A squad of soldiers waiting at the village of Lee returned to the air base for heavy clothing in preparation to start tomorrow for the scene.

Bound from Langley Field.

The bomber lost its way soon after reaching Augusta, Me., on the way to Bangor. The radio operator at northeast air base here was unable to communicate with the ship again after it reported it was over Augusta.

Another bomber taking the same route landed safely here, despite a heavy fog, but a third plane turned back and landed at Boston.

Killed as Army Plane Crashes.

Dayton, O., Nov. 16 (AP).—First Lieut. Eller C. Sundorph, 45 years old, of Cleveland, was killed today in the crash of a pursuit plane at Patterson field.

BABY IN STOLEN AUTO; FOUND IN REAR OF 2D CAR

Benton, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP).—Theft of an automobile last night led to a hunt for a 2 year old boy who was in the back seat. He was found three and a half hours later in the rear of another automobile in Mount Vernon—23 miles away.

When Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mozey of Creal Springs, parked their car in front of the Benton home of Ewing Choisser they left their son, Loyal Edward, in the rear seat. That was at 7 p. m. A few minutes later they came out. The car—and Loyal Edward—had vanished. The father, police and sheriff's officers began a search.

The child was found at 10:30 p. m. in the rear of a car owned by R. J. Cobb of Mount Vernon, when Cobb investigated sounds of a baby crying.

Police still are hunting the Mozey automobile.

The projected ceiling of 2,150,000 cars will still be 765,180 units above 1933 and within 161,860 of 1939. The same year, the automobile industry will be required to produce two to three billions in war products and may soon be asked to shoulder one-eighth of the entire defense effort.

PIONEER DEALER IN ART TO QUIT ---AN ERA ENDS

Today's Homes Have No Room for Canvases.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Four words marked the passing of an elegant era yesterday. They were printed on a sign in the window of M. O'Brien & Son, Inc., 820 North Michigan avenue, pioneer art dealers of Chicago. The words were, "Going Out of Business."

These four words tell of the swing of the pendulum. Behind them lies the history of Chicago. They take a sprawling, rough and tumble town and trace it to a day of wealth and elegance which waned with depression and taxation.

In 1854 an Irish carpenter, Martin O'Brien, left his Vermont hills and came to Chicago, a 21 year old town which was rapidly spreading itself over the prairie. He could have made a profitable living at his trade but instead, with a little capital, opened a "picture store" on Lake street.

Starts with Engravings.

The stock was made up of steel engravings, chromo-lithographs, and Currier & Ives prints. The last sold at 25 cents to a dollar and were considered poor art by the small, cultured group of Chicagoans.

As the business grew, O'Brien moved his store to various locations in the downtown district and in 1869 opened the "O'Brien Art Emporium" on Randolph street. Three prosperous years followed and in the fall of 1871 the proprietor took a deserved vacation, leaving the shop in the hands of his sons. He returned in October to find not only his shop, but the city itself in embers.

He started over again and in 1882 admitted his son, William Vincent, into partnership. In 1910 he retired, leaving the entire business, which was now given over to fine arts, in his son's hands. William Vincent O'Brien, like his father, was a pioneer and in 1910 moved his shop to Michigan avenue, a one-sided street with few prospects.

Backs Winslow Homer.

A fine critic and patron of art, as well as a dealer, William Vincent was instrumental in placing Stuart portraits of Washington and was one of the first to recognize Winslow Homer, one of the greatest water color painters America has produced.

Thru advice and consultation with Martin Ryerson, O'Brien had much to do with the Art institute in its formative years. He introduced Whistler etchings to Chicago and was indirectly responsible for the forming of the Bryan Lathrop collection of Whistler etchings in the Art institute.

"Father's Day Is Gone."

"My father's day is gone," William Vincent O'Brien Jr. said yesterday. He is a grandson of the founder and present owner of the galleries. "The call for fine pictures doesn't exist any more. The way of life in Chicago has changed and people live in apartments where a color print will do as well as a masterpiece. Just recently I went to the home of one of our first families and realized why my grandfather and father prospered. The home was five stories high and the wall space in all the huge rooms was dotted with magnificent masters. There is hardly room in the modern home for even one of those pictures.

"I hate to close the galleries but it has become a financial necessity. Like my grandfather before me, I shall have to start from scratch. The first thing I shall do is look for a job."

DEMOCRATS HOLD MEETING TODAY IN SPRINGFIELD

An informal conference of downstate Democratic leaders will be held today in the St. Nicholas hotel in Springfield.

"As far as I know it will be merely a get-together for an exchange of ideas," said former Gov. John Stelle, who was in Chicago yesterday. "A number of us thought we should talk over things for the good of the party. I doubt that any action will be taken or that candidates for 1942 will be discussed."

Among those, in addition to Stelle, who are expected to attend are Harry B. Hershey, nominee for governor in 1940; Bruce A. Campbell, former state chairman; John C. Martin, former congressman and state treasurer, and Louie E. Lewis, another former treasurer. Sen. Scott W. Lucas and Secretary of State E. J. Hughes, it was said, will send representatives.

Civil Engineer, 53, Found Shot to Death in His Home

William C. Anthony, 53 years old, a civil engineer, was found shot to death yesterday in his home at 8428 Ingleside avenue. Police said he evidently had killed himself. A shotgun was used. He was employed by the Bethlehem Steel company.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle. It must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen's, Stineway and drug stores everywhere.

LABOR IN POLAND WILL NOT BREAK, SAYS MINISTER

Workers Here Told of Woe Under Nazis.

Jan Stanczyk, prewar leader of Polish labor and present minister of labor of the Polish government in exile, yesterday brought this message to Chicago's thousand of Poles: "Labor in Poland, suffering its greatest tragedies in history, will never buckle under Nazi domination."

Stanczyk, a stocky ex-miner, climaxed a day of conferences with various worker groups by addressing several thousand members of Polish-American labor unions at 333 North Ashland avenue.

Faith in the Future.

"Altho the working man in Poland is undergoing severe hardships," he said, "he will not yield to his Nazi overlords. We have faith in the future. The Poland which will result from this terrible war must be free and safe not only for labor, but for all minority groups."

On effect of the German rule in Poland, Stanczyk said, has been the virtual elimination of any anti-Semitic feelings among the Polish population. "When the Warsaw ghetto walls were erected," he said, "large groups of Poles met in secret in the woods and denounced such actions. They represented all political parties, all labor groups."

Stanczyk, who was the leading representative of labor in the Polish parliament before the Nazi invasion, was accompanied here by W. L. Malinowski, another exiled Laborite, who is serving as Stanczyk's secretary.

Underground Movement.

Before a delegation of Jewish labor representatives in the Drake hotel Malinowski disclosed brief details of a growing underground movement in Poland.

"The whole story can't be told yet," he said, "but it's getting stronger and stronger. Hundreds of illegal newspapers are being printed. Recently 25,000 copies of these were inserted somehow in official publications. The people doing these things are risking their lives. Their efforts will not be unrewarded."

Stanczyk, who said the purpose of his visit here is to acquaint interested persons of conditions in Poland, today will be a guest of the Chicago division of the American Jewish congress and the Labor Zionist movement of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

THERE'S MORAL TO THIS STORY, IN LAST PARAGRAPH

Premature was the way police yesterday described Miss Betty Wigman's remarks. Embarrassing was the way her escort, Rudolph Postman, described the result of her remarks.

Miss Wigman, 29 years old, of 851 East Marquette road, and Postman, 35, of 8120 Oglesby avenue, were sitting in his car at 85th street and Anthony avenue, when two gunmen stepped up. They took $4 from her and $2 and a watch from Postman, then turned to depart.

"It might have been worse!" exclaimed Miss Wigman in relief. It was, for the bandits, less than three feet away, apparently heard her remark. They came right back and stripped Postman of his suit, right down to his underwear.

YMCA ROBBED OF $250.

Police were searching yesterday for two gunmen who menaced Howard Barclay, clerk, in the YMCA at 4 East 111th street, Saturday night and stole $250 from the office safe.

Child Fussing at Meals Is Best Ignored

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I'm so worried about Peggy. She simply won't eat," sighed a young mother. "I study vitamin charts, race downtown to be sure to get the freshest vegetables and the best cuts of meat, come home and carefully cook them, and then she messes about and barely eats three spoonfuls."

If your child is normally healthy, if he plays and sleeps without difficulty, then the eating problem usually is a phase which will pass if undue attention isn't paid to the refusal "to sit up and eat properly." Children have keen intuition and they sense what actions bring them into the limelight, altho the particular action which gets the interest may, the first time, be quite unconsciously stumbled upon by the child. It's well to remember also that little children don't realize that they are worrying their parents.

One mother who was desperate solved her problem by saying: "All right, Debby, you needn't eat your dinner. We'll give it to Nippy. He'll just love it. Puppies are always good about lapping up baked potatoes, carrots and lamb chops, and they always cry for more." Then conversation and attention were diverted deliberately from the question of food. If Debby still fussed, her plate was removed from the table and puppy called to the kitchen. Then the rest of the family continued with the meal. In a very few minutes Debby was lustily calling for her food to be given to her and she ate without fanfare everything put before her. Hers happened to be a problem which was the product of too many watching grownups.

It may be that you haven't a pet animal to which you can pretend to give your youngster's dinner or that you wouldn't approve of that method, but what is essentially necessary when mealtime difficulties arise is to treat the eating as casually as possible and not make it a major crisis in the household.

How can you amuse the convalescent child? What is the most difficult age? How may stubbornness be prevented? These and other problems are discussed in "You and Your Young Child." Handsome Crocheted Rug

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a good looking crocheted rug which has had prior rights on the scrap bag and, as a result, has combined harmonizing and contrasting shades in the two borders and effective small squares. This rug is fun to create and it works up more quickly than most crochet jobs. It is an ideal suggestion for a present to any one who appreciates individual gifts.

For instructions in crocheting the rug rug, No. 1008, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 330 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Waves in Hair Made Lasting by New Method

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

In a sense hairdressing is one of the oldest arts, but there are phases of it that are still in the development stage. Waving and curling to suit the requirements of the modern hair arrangement are arts which the profession—and the beauty salon customer—are eager to see developed to a practical perfection.

A hair stylist, who is currently serving as consultant in a Chicago salon, thinks he has the solution to the problem of achieving a lasting, deeper, and better defined wave and curl—the kind that can be brushed vigorously without losing crispness. It holds enticing promise for the woman whose hair droops anywhere from one hour to 48 after she leaves the beauty salon!

It's not done with the aid of gadgets. According to the stylist, it's a method on which he has obtained a patent—said to be the first ever issued on a basis of method alone. It's his contention that in the past hairdressers had tried to put a round curl within the limits of a square section of hair. He divides the hair into triangular sections, tapers it from the base of the triangle into a relieving ridge, and at the end of this forms a curl, which is placed outside the original section. Two hairpins, properly placed, help form the ridge important to the crispness of the curl. It's a method that can be used by a specially trained operator on any texture of hair and in the evolution of any style of coiffure.

All signs point—and in this the hairstylist agrees—to the extermination of the "sausage curl." Waves, deep and lasting, are important to the hairdress of the future. And any method that helps make waves last and curls retain their featheriness deserves investigation.

Wedding Gown of Wool Is New and Fascinating

BY REA SEEGER.

Wool wedding gowns are definitely new and tantalizingly different. If you are planning a bridal gown, consider thin, fine, soft wool as a fabric most seriously. Thin wool crêpe in winter white drapes and shirrs exquisitely; it also lends itself to fine handwork such as decorative beading, braiding, and appliqued designs. Thin wool jersey drapes as fluidly in statuesque folds as does clinging silk jersey and winter white tones in crêpe or jersey wool are exceptionally flattering with a subtle warmth difficult to describe.

Nun's veiling in white is another sheer wool with which to fashion a beautiful wedding gown for the petite as well as the willowy, tall bride. And so are the regal lengths of fine, smooth broadcloth. Broadcloth can be handsomely accented with gold bead or nail head trim, or cut severely simple, allowing the beauty of the fabric to dramatize the silhouette.

Fine lace or more coarse meshed laces can be used with woolen fabrics with the same flattering effects as heirloom lace on silk or satin.

In the fabric collections you will find all these lovely wools in winter white tones, ready for the gown of your dreams. Some of them rival any silk for sheerness, some drape as graciously as thick chiffon or jersey, and still other finds are as rich in texture and quality as stiff brocade.

The same lace embroidery and fine handwork can be as effectively decorative with these wedding woolens as satins, silks, and other sheers. Entire bridal pageants, from flower girl to matron of honor, are easily costumed in pastel tinted woolens to harmonize both in color and fabric with the romantic bridal gown itself.

Front Views and Profiles

Out of the wisdom of their years comes the word of the old wives that the lovely balm of the past few days has been true Indian summer, which comes only after the first full moon of November. So the moon grew fat and full within a circle of luminous mist, and now as it wanes a blue haze hangs near the earth, the smoke from the fire of a million leaves tarrying in ascension. Against the haze the scarlet and lemon and tangerine of frost-tipped trees make a rim of flame around Chicago, and spiders, tempted to one final audacity before ice makes perilous their twigs, balloon their silver threads to untold heights and aspiration. Across the asphalt of city streets comes the flash of the red-winged blackbird, and over the lake the blue-winged teal, his migration delayed by this subterfuge, makes a final dip and soar.

Young men, their will to modern activity dimmed by the bright sunshine, think wistfully of the life of an Indian brave, lithe and free in the woodland, and old women sit in the sun and dream. The golden balls of chrysanthemums in the florist's window seem precipitate and before their time, and all that was transitory seems moored. The crippled beggar with lined, benevolent face smiles broadly from his seat on the sidewalk and bobs his white mane at all who pass. White sails sparkle again on a quiet lake and the organ grinder brings his wizened monkey to Michigan avenue for a final, supplicant dance until spring.

Under the waning moon.

It may have been the madness of the moon, the ghost of the Indian, that lured a comely young woman to strange endeavor on the near north side the other night. Around midnight, when the moon was high and just beginning to wither, she scaled the intricate 11 foot wrought iron fence in Lake Shore drive enclosing the gaunt stone mansion of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick. Once inside, she performed merrily on the trapeze, swings and acrobatic bars on the lawn where tiny children now perform by day.

"I wasn't drunk, honestly," she said. "It was a compulsion. I just had to do it because I had done it once before, and no one believed I had."

Lebensraum . . .

Here is appeasement. The salesman, weary and discouraged, who remarked, "If Hitler wants more territory, he can have mine."

Apocryphal?

Of the many tales now told of Picasso, the great painter immured in Nazi Paris, one of the more subtle is at the expense of Otto Abetz, German ambassador to Paris. Abetz, an admirer of Picasso's work, was eager to meet him, and hinted of this to various Frenchmen with no success. At last he wrote to the great man, but received no reply. He wrote again, and again received no reply.

Finally he called, told Picasso of his admiration for the painter's work and of his desire to see some of it. Picasso was as communicative as Br'er Rabbit cornered by Br'er Fox. The ambassador tried a new approach.

"What are you doing now?" he asked.

"Nothing," was Picasso's polite reply.

"But what are you painting?"

Again the reply, "Nothing."

"But," the ambassador protested, "haven't you anything you can show me?"

Picasso deliberated, smiled and drew from a drawer a photograph of his masterful painting of the Spanish civil war, "Guernica." The ambassador was impressed.

"Wunderbar!" he cried. "And you did it?"

Food for . . .

Some of Chicago's darkened theaters should be able to find employment for the talents of Robert Porterfield, the actor-producer who speaks today at the Arts club. He is here to tell of the success of Barter theater, the summer stock theater he founded in Abingdon, Va., where the mountain audience barters its way in with food. A pig or lamb buys a season ticket for the family, a smoked ham, two fine center seats. A dietician presides in the box office and estimates the worth of each offering. Last summer a leathery old crone brought a lemon cream pie; her neighbors, equally aged, brought a pot of vegetable soup.

Cossacks' Songs and Dances Win Hearty Applause

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Next to waving the flag or invoking the name of mother, the most effective thing a person in show business can do is to dance a Cossack dance. There is something about the squatting position and the kicking motion which breaks down all reserve in an audience and results in the most thunderous ovations.

Yesterday afternoon the Don Cossack chorus presented two anonymous Cossack dancers who combined apparent abandon with consummate skill in so intoxicating a manner that the Civic Opera house all but shook with the volume of the applause.

Not that there was any lack of enthusiasm earlier. The chorus' iron lunged fortes and theatrical pianissimos—to say nothing of its headlong meters and the free, lusty, outdoors quality of its folk singing—drew one ovation after another. Tense little Serge Jaroff conducted.

Besides folk music the program offered sacred music of the Orthodox church and a miscellany which included excerpts from Glinka's opera, "A Life for the Czars."

Over the week-end the Chicago Opera company announced its bill for next Monday night. It will be Verdi's comic opera, "Falstaff," and the cast will include John Charles Thomas, Dusolina Giannini, Virginia Haskins, Hertha Glaz, Sonia Sharnova, and Carlos Alexander. Laszlo Halasz is to conduct. The production will be in English.

Cold Nights Start Requests to Sally for Warm Bedding

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

With the onset of cold weather, requests for bedding are increasing. Many families are living in basements, and suffer greatly from the cold and dampness. Others live in ramshackle buildings, without adequate insulation or heat. Many families have never had an adequate supply of blankets and are forced to huddle under coats or any other makeshift covering.

The L. family has sent in a request for bedding which they are unable to purchase. There are three in the family, living on a very small income. Their only son is a paralysis victim, quite badly crippled. They live on the north side, and Mrs. L. will be glad to call for offers.

The G. family consists of the parents and three small children. Warm bedding is an urgent necessity, but it cannot be supplied from Mr. G.'s inadequate wage, which provides only for food and shelter. The name and address will be supplied upon request.

Nation's Demands Break Up Thanksgiving Family Circles

BY JUDITH CASS.

BECAUSE so many young men are in training and so many families have moved east in answer to the demands of the rearmament program, Thanksgiving dinner parties will be smaller and more intimate this year than in past times. There will be few dinner guests, for most families are choosing to make their feasts of turkey and the trimmings strictly family affairs.

"I just can't think of Thanksgiving without my children," said Mrs. John Alden Carpenter on Saturday, but yesterday she began planning a celebration, for she heard that one of her daughters, Mrs. Robert S. Pirie, and Mr. Pirie were coming from their home in New York for the holiday. The Piries only moved east this fall. Unfortunately, Mrs. Carpenter's other daughter, Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson, and her family cannot come from Washington, to which they moved this fall, for Thanksgiving. The Carpenters had a visit with the Stevensons recently, however, for they came home from Beverly, Mass., via New York and Washington. While in the latter place they also saw Mr. Carpenter's daughter, Mrs.

Crowd to See Dioramas of Lincoln's Life

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

It was a real old-fashioned crush yesterday at the Chicago Historical society where 20 dioramas depicting the life of Abraham Lincoln from the Hodgenville, Ky., cabin where he was born to Ford's theater in Washington, where he was assassinated, were shown to the public for the first time. At 4 o'clock Joseph M. Cudahy, president of the society, cut a white ribbon to admit the first guest with a pen knife that had belonged to Lincoln. From then until the doors were closed two hours later, 1,721 persons saw the dioramas.

This is the first time that the life story of the great emancipator has been undertaken in dioramas. The ones now on view at the Historical society were two years in the making and are accurate in every detail.

Some of those who were invited to have tea with Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy in the senate chamber following the preview had to postpone viewing the dioramas until a later date, for not all of the guests were able to gain admittance to the room in which the fascinating little scenes are displayed.

All of the Cudahy's guests, however, saw the costumes of Chicago women that have just been placed in a room opposite the senate chamber. There are, among others, a mourning gown worn by Mrs. Lincoln and the bonnet and gown she was wearing in the theater the night her husband was shot, with blood stains on the cape to give graphic evidence of the tragedy; the late Mrs. William Blair's wedding gown and one of her trousseau dresses, both with 18 inch waists; Mrs. John T. Lester's bridal gown presented by her daughter, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine; Mrs. Ira Holmes' wedding gown, given by her son, Burton Holmes; a gown from the trousseau of Mrs. Arthur B. Meeker, presented by her daughter, Mrs. David S. Cook, and a gown of Mrs. John Carpenter's, given by Mrs. Edmund A. Russell.

There were two tables in the senate chamber, both shining with silver services, silver candelabra, and mirror placques. White carnations and mums were the centerpieces, and the cloths were of embroidered net. Mrs. James Ward Thorne and Mrs. Potter Palmer poured at one and Mrs. James M. Hopkins and Mrs. William McCormick Blair at the other. Some of the many who were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy were Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, who arrived home yesterday from their summer place at Cooperstown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Dr. Louis E. Warren of the Lincoln Life Foundation in Fort Wayne, and Henry Pratt, executive secretary of the Abraham Lincoln association in Springfield. Dr. Warren and Mr. Pratt were consultants for the museum extension program, sponsored by the Chicago board of education, which built the dioramas under the supervision of the historical society.

Others who were guests of the Cudahys were the George A. Ranneys, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. Paul Blatchford and her daughter, Mrs. Earle Fowler; Mrs. Sturgis Finan of New York, looking handsomer and thinner than when she lived in Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Keith, the Arthur Meekers, Mrs. Valentine, Mrs. C. Morse Ely, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummings, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. John W. Gary, and Miss Cornelia Conger.

"Justice Deferred"

INSTALMENT VII.
WARNING MESSAGE.

As Waugh turned to go, the young man at the French window sauntered forward. "Just a moment, if you please. I seem to have butted into this pleasant reunion, but my family appear to be the villains of the plot."

He bowed to Waugh, the ironic grin still on his face. "Let me introduce myself. I'm one of that Clinton clan. To be specific, Abner Clinton III. I gather that you are the hero who cleaned up on the cop who tried to give Mary a ticket for speeding."

"That isn't true, Ab," Mary denied. "He wasn't a policeman. He was a thug."

Young Clinton's smile was sceptical. "My error. I stand corrected. But since I'm still in the dark about the antecedents of the hero, perhaps somebody will explain how my family come into the picture."

Waugh brushed away the persiflage of Clinton. His hard eyes drilled into those of the jaunty clubman. "I'm accusing your family of the murder of my father," he said curtly. "Take a message to old Abner from me. Tell him the son of Peter Waugh is in town, and that if there is any way I can prove the old scoundrel guilty of this crime, I expect to do it."

Jack walked from the room, his straight flat back uncompromisingly hostile. Abner Clinton III. watched him go, mirth dancing in the young fellow's eyes. It looked as tho Mr. Waugh might turn out good entertainment in a world altogether too dry and commonplace.

"He's a throwback to the old days, Mary," Clinton said. "I'm glad you invited me to this little party. If your hero lives up to the advertisement he has put out, I'm going to enjoy him a lot." He chuckled, in anticipation. "My granddad will foam at the mouth when I carry this challenge to him. Hope he doesn't pop off with apoplexy."

Mary's eyes flashed anger. "I don't find him amusing. I never saw such insolence." She turned impulsively to her stepfather. "You don't know how sorry I am for having invited him here. Of course, I never dreamed he had ever seen you before or that he would act this way."

Carey smiled, ruefully. "Of course not, honey. That's all right." He went on, after a moment. "I feel bad about this, Peter Waugh was my friend, like I said. He was shot down before this boy without a chance for his life. You can't blame the young fellow for feeling sore."

"I can blame him for trying to put it on you, just because you took the trouble to try to help his father," the girl differed. "And for making an unpleasant scene when he was a guest in this house."

"Funny how this has cropped up again after 20 years," Carey said, as if he were thinking aloud instead of speaking to the others. "Looks like he is going to bust this case wide open again. I hope not. I sure hope not. It won't do him any good . . . or anybody else. He had better leave it lay."

His mind had gone back to the bloody days when rifles coughed from the brush. Even his speech had reverted to the phraseology of his youth.

"Do you think he means to make trouble?" Mrs. Carey asked anxiously.

Her husband shook his head doubtfully. "You heard what he said. If he is like Pete, once he gets on the prod, nothing will stop him."

"Something stopped his father," Clinton mentioned, almost in a murmur.

Carey flashed to anger. "That's right. Bullets of hired killers . . . six or eight of them . . . risking the chance that they would kill the little son he had with him. They rubbed him out, like you say. But even after he was riddled with lead he stood up to them—killed one dead as a stuck shote and wounded another, then made the whole passel of them turn tail and light out like yellow coyotes."

"I've heard something about it," Clinton said. "A range feud, wasn't it? I suppose my old granddad was in it up to his neck."

The former cattleman looked at him, eyes bleak. "If you want information on that point you had better ask him," he said.

"I'll do just that," Clinton answered cheerfully. "I'm the only one in the family that old vinegaroon hasn't got scared stiff when he begins to bark."

Corbett Carey turned abruptly and walked out of a French window to a porch from which steps descended into the garden.

The eyes of his wife followed him, disturbed at the distress this had brought her husband. "He wants to be alone a while and worry this out," she said to her daughter. "After a time he will want to talk it over with me, but not yet." She smiled faintly at Mary. "Don't feel bad about this. I expect the young man has had this on his mind ever since he was a little fellow. When he met Corbett it just jumped out into words."

She left Mary and Abner together.

"Do you know anything about this old trouble?" the girl asked.

"Not much. I've heard bits of talk about it now and again. It was an old range feud. Very likely old Ab was arbitrary. In those days they settled trouble with their guns. So this Peter Waugh was killed in a fight."

"Ambushed, his son claims, and my father admitted it."

Clinton shrugged his shoulders. "Might have been that way. I don't know. There were a lot of rough characters riding for the big outfits."

"No wonder Jack Waugh's blood boils when he thinks of it. I don't suppose there is anything he can do about it now. But I don't know. He looks dangerous."

"If anybody gets hurt it will be Waugh," Clinton said. "If he starts anything, it will be like butting his head against a stone wall."

Mary was not so sure of that. She had seen him in action.

* *

Ab Clinton sat in a big uncushioned chair, his thick barrel body slumped down on the end of his spine. With the stub of a pencil he was jotting figures in a little notebook much the worse for wear.

The house was a large ornate one overfilled with furniture that had been chosen with no sense of taste. This one room was an exception. It was as nearly as possible a duplication of his old office at the A C ranch. He had brought in the battered desk and the cheap chairs from it. A three dollar clock ticked away the minutes. From a wooden peg driven into the wall hung a worn saddle. There stood in one corner a Winchester rifle. The only concession to comfort was a Navajo rug on the floor, an old one with the pattern faded. He had snatched it out of the house of a nester 40 years ago just after setting fire to the building. In this stark bare room Clinton spent a great deal of his time. It exactly suited him.

The door opened and Abner Clinton III. strolled into the room. He grinned at his grandfather and asked casually, "How's the old-timer?"

Old Ab squinted a look up at him from the ice blue eyes in the weather beaten face. Abner was a strange name for this smooth playboy, yet it pleased his grandfather. This lad was his one weakness. He disapproved entirely of his manner of life, yet felt a not wholly concealed admiration for him. They were as different as two men could well be, both inside and out. Whatever pretensions to good looks the old man may once have had long since were gone.

He cared nothing about clothes and never took the trouble to have a suit pressed. A twisted live oak with gnarled bark was no more rough than he. That this graceful good looking young so blond and handsome and well groomed had sprung from him was difficult to believe. Yet each of them felt in the other a curious affinity. It pleased the octogenarian to know that alone of all his descendants this lad never had feared him. He could be slangily disrespectful, extravagant and lazy. His grandfather growled about his shortcomings and put up with them gladly. To have the young scamp around was more than compensation enough.

The ceremony took place in Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, in the home of Commander and Mrs. William Marshall. The Rt. Rev. Harry Beal, Episcopal bishop of Panama, officiated at the 4:30 o'clock service. The entire Reed family and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Reece of Chestnut Hill, Boston, Mass., went south for the wedding. In Panama the young Reeds will be members of the same circle as Miss Sally Perry and Ensign Edward A. Limberg Jr., who will be married there tomorrow.

At a tea on Saturday in their home in Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyman Emrich announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to James H. Gilfillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Solon John Gilfillan of Glencoe. Miss Emrich is a sophomore at Northwestern university. You can do a lot of different things with sweet potatoes. Serve them baked or mashed, if you like them plain. If you like them sweetened a bit, try any of these good recipes. Ham, roast pork, pork chops, sausage cakes, and lamb patties are favorite meats to accompany sweet potatoes.

ORANGE CANDIED SWEET POTATOES.
[Serves Six.]

1 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup water
1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter
½ teaspoon salt
6 medium sweet potatoes.

Combine first six ingredients and boil 5 minutes. Peel and slice raw sweet potatoes into a buttered baking dish. Pour sirup over them. Cover and bake at 350 degrees until tender, about an hour. Baste occasionally with sirup during baking. Uncover last 10 minutes to brown.

SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE WITH MAPLE SIRUP AND PECANS.
[Serves Six.]

4 medium sweet potatoes, cooked
3 tart apples, pared, cored, and sliced
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
¾ cup maple sirup
½ cup whole pecan meats.

Peel and slice potatoes. Arrange half of them in the bottom of a greased baking dish and sprinkle lightly with salt. Add a layer of apple slices, sprinkle with brown sugar, and dot with butter. Add half of the pecans. Repeat the process, then pour maple sirup over the mixture, and bake 20 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Crushed pineapple may be substituted for the apples. In that case cut the brown sugar to ¼ cup, and sprinkle it, and the dots of butter, directly over the potatoes.

CANDIED SWEET POTATOES.
[Serves Six.]

6-8 medium sweet potatoes
1 cup brown sugar, lightly packed
½ cup butter
¾ teaspoon salt.

Parboil uniformly sized potatoes for 15 minutes. Drain, peel, and cut in halves lengthwise, or slice. Arrange in buttered baking dish and sprinkle with sugar, bits of butter, and salt. Bake for an hour at 325 degrees, using a cover on the casserole except for the last 15 minutes.

Cooked or canned sweet potatoes also may be candied in a skillet. Add ⅓ cup water to 1 cup brown sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt, boil for 5 minutes, then add ½ cup butter. Heat sliced sweet potatoes in the mixture over low heat, turning to coat the slices thoroly. Use only half the proportions if you have only three or four persons to serve, or do not care for a heavy coating of sirup. Maple sirup may be used with butter to make a grand candying sirup.

SWEET POTATO, APPLE AND BACON CASSEROLE.

Arrange sliced cooked sweet potatoes and sliced tart apples in alternate layers in a greased baking dish and sprinkle with brown sugar. Dot with butter. Cover with strips of bacon. Bake in a 350 degree oven until thoroly hot, and until bacon has crisped. Do not use a great deal of butter in this recipe as the bacon fat provides flavor and can take the place of at least half of the other fat.

Nov. 17, 1941.

Universal day—Keep your mind clear and your spirits up.

The cycle of numbers—We now come to the number in the cycle which is very much misunderstood. It is called the number of money and success by many, but they lose sight of the fact that there are always two sides to the success story, and that riches are not always blessings. So this number, tho considered so powerful for material success, also is just as powerful for failure in the greater issues that involve the spirit. This is an expanding number and should be the peak of the cycle if one has followed thru the various stages adhering to the spiritual significance of each step as well as taking care of the material progress. It is both a constructive and destructive number, depending upon the way you use your power. It stands for justice, and justice plays no favorites.

LAST MONDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 26: Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass

You are South, and hold:
♠AQ63 ♥K542 ♦AQ ♣K85
What call do you make?

Answer: Four diamonds. True, you have only two trumps for partner, but they are the ace-queen, and these, after his jump take-out, are decidedly important. No other rebid by you can be so constructive, nor assist partner so much on his next bid. You have four honor tricks, hence it would be cowardly to bid merely three no trump at this point. [Ten points credit for four diamonds; no demerit for four no trump; 10 points demerit for three hearts; 15 points demerit for five diamonds or five no trump; 20 points for six diamonds or six no trump; 35 points for three no trump; 40 points for any other bid.]

Question 27: North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 hearts	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠75 ♥532 ♦AKJ4 ♣A976
What call do you make?

Answer: Four hearts. If North has anything like the values for a vulnerable two heart overcall, your strength is great enough for game. Three low hearts are ample trump support. [Twenty points demerit for three hearts; 25 points demerit for three diamonds; 30 points demerit for four clubs; 50 points demerit for any other call, including a pass.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 34: Rubber bridge; North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	?

♠AKQJ752 ♥— ♦AQ103 ♣62
What call do you make?

Today's Hand.

♦8652
♣AQ84

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

East opened a low heart, West won, and shifted to the diamond queen. Thus the defenders collected five tricks [three diamonds and two hearts] before declarer could even take the lead.

The fault was, of course, completely South's. His opening bid, altho light, was quite proper, but his rebid was too encouraging. He should have chosen the minimum rebid of one no trump. This would have resulted in the bidding stopping one level lower. North, of course, would bid two spades over one no trump, but this would permit South to pass. After South's spade raise, North, with a seven card suit, was right to make a try for game.

South probably felt that a single raise of partner's suit was as weak a bid as he could make, but in this he was mistaken. A single raise of an original bid shows a weak hand, but the same does not apply to the raise of a response.

Tomorrow's Hand.

Bachelor in His Forties Is Altar-Shy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Here's another one of those cases in which a bachelor over 40 years of age stands at the threshold of happiness, yet is afraid to reach out and grasp it. After living as he pleases for so long, he hesitates to give up his freedom for fear that he may be bored by married life.

In his letter he says that he is going with a woman about ten years younger than himself. This woman has boldly admitted that she loves him, and it has been on the tip of his tongue to tell her that he returns that love, but years of parrying such confessions now make him just as cautious as ever.

"There was one woman I thought I loved dearly. I still think of her, and I know that, if I would call her on the long distance telephone and tell her to hop a plane and come to marry me, she would be on the first plane available. Yet I feel, definitely, that all is over between us. My being transferred to a job broke us up. Before I left her, I called her every day, and saw her four times a week.

"When I came away I was lonesome, until I met a woman who is, I am sure, just what a man looks for in a wife. Yet I can't make up my mind about her, Miss Blake. Some man will get her some day, and she will make him happy, I am sure. But I don't know if I want to be that man."

There is no advice that we can give this man. He is old enough to know what he does, and does not, want out of life. If he feels he wants to remain single and do exactly as he pleases, that is up to him. Or, if he wants to take a chance that he will find in a companion for life more happiness than he has ever had, with his mind made up to share and share alike, that also is up to him. Perhaps some of you late-to-marry men will let us know if you are glad you gave up your bachelor life?

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 16—Sunday—A column to write, and then to the Dean Jaggers' for a cocktail party, and Randolph Scott, the Ernest Truexes, John Beal, and Helen Craig among those present. Dean, who has been acting the rôle of a fairly amiable villain in "Valley of the Sun," looks very sharp in a fine two-tone outfit—light brown jacket and dark brown trousers, and he tells me his pretty wife, Antoinette, wove the cloth. She weaves practically all his clothes and can turn out a suit length in a week of eight-hour days. What a mate!

Monday—I hear that one of the big studios, planning a production in London, figured on sending one of its top directors over to make the job. After weeks of inquiry and negotiation the director learned that, counting United States and British taxes [with the British making no allowance for taxes paid here], he would have to pay $112 for every $100 earned. So he said the heck with that, and the job will be turned over to a Londoner.

Tuesday—I hear that Sam Goldwyn, who jerked one preview of "Ball of Fire" because a trade paper reviewer was present, tried later to stop another preview in Westwood. Shortly before the showing he decided he didn't like the sound projection and ordered the film withdrawn. The house manager declined to comply, saying that the preview had been advertised and a paying audience was on hand. He posted a guard at the projection room and warned Sam that if he tried to get his film he'd be tossed out.

Wednesday—Desk work and asking-around. The many stock holders in Orson Welles' stage production of "Native Son" will begin to get dividends next week, when the show gets off the nut in Chicago. . . . In "They Died with Their Boots On" Olivia De Havilland weeps and an owl winks one eye. Onion juice on nether eyelids did the trick in each case. . . . Budd ["What Makes Sammy Run"] Schulberg has written a film story, "The Boston Strong Man," concerning John L. Sullivan and William Muldoon. Should be a honey for period and color. . . . In the evening for a gander at Metro's "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," and it is my guess that the film will be put down as remarkable on several counts. It's a faithful and funny transliteration of a good book, it's done in excellent taste, and it puts Robert Young up at the top as an actor. They tell me no film player ever worked harder on a job than Young did in "Pulham." The effort shows and it should pay him handsomely. . . . Hollywood, by the way, is almost aghast at itself. It has made so many good pictures this year that it looks like the dawn of a golden age. And the wonderful thing is that good movies are making money.

Thursday—To Columbia for a visit with Budd's pa, B. P. Schulberg, and on the set of "Martin Eden," where Glenn Ford is rescuing Dickie Moore from the prison hold of a ship. It's raining in sheets, lightning is jumping from huge arcs, and Glenn has to carry Dickie up a ladder. A couple of years ago this would have been easy, for Dickie was a kid star; but now he's a husky hunk almost as big as young Ford, and it's a workout for Glenn . . . Speaking of child actors, I hear that Sam Wood has sent for a print of Republic's Autry flicker, "Down Mexico Way," so that he can see Fay McKenzie in a Spanish rôle. Apparently she's a candidate for the Maris part in "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Sam used to direct her when she was a tot . . . Trade previewers agree that "Rise and Shine," Mark Hellinger's first entry under the 20th-Fox banner, is a honey.

Friday—An attempt at golf, and I'd much rather have been a one-man gallery with the foursome behind, which includes Bob Hope and Johnny Weissmuller . . . Way down town in the evening to a preview of "Playmates," a bit of RKO nonsense in which John Barrymore makes good clean fun of himself—and in which Kay Kyser gets top billing. How fleet the works of man!

Saturday—To the Orson Welles cinema factory, where Welles is making his second picture, "The Magnificent Ambersons." This is by all odds the most amiable lot in town, except maybe Disney's, and more about it in the next dispatch.

Good Morning!

"Give a man a horse he can ride" . . . which, in the present instance, is applicable to Nelson Eddy and his Russian disguise in this movie.

The minute he gets behind it he's a different man. His wooden-ness disappears. His gestures become natural and fluid and his singing is like a lark's thanksgiving song. . . . WHY—I don't know, but somehow Mr. Eddy's own [illegible] looks, with their appeal to [illegible] inhibit him. [I think.] Psych[illegible]s please answer.

Well—tha[illegible] bit of news about this pictur[illegible] another—Rise [pronounced [illegible] Stevens, from the Metropolit[illegible], is a screen find . . . beau[illegible]tural, and with a voice tha[illegible] the heart out of you. . . . [illegible] teams well with Eddy. . . . [illegible]stands him, apparently. A [illegible]orthy successor to the gorge[illegible]ette MacDonald. . . .

This "C[illegible] Soldier" is based on Feren[illegible]nar's play, "The Guardsman," in which Lynn Fontanne and [illegible] Lunt made histrionic history—and not on George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," as was the original operetta. The title is the same because the original score by Oscar Strauss has been retained. . . .

The first scenes sort of let you down—and your distaste for Mr. Eddy continues until—to convince himself once and for all of his wife's faithfulness, or disloyalty—Lang dons the aforementioned disguise and pays her court. . . . After that, Darlings, everything is perfectly lovely.

The story—you probably know it—is about a pair of married singers who adore one another but get along none too well because of the husband's frightful jealousy. . . . He frantically and constantly suspects the worst. . . . At last—he makes up his mind to find out once and for all the answer to the haunting question—"Is she true?" Sort of a "lady or the tiger," ending.

The picture is lavishly staged. The music is good. . . . Supporting players are capable and music delightful.

I think I can promise that you'll like "The Chocolate Soldier."

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

A Weighty Problem.

In winter time women wear, indoors, clothing weighing 1½ pounds, including the weight of their shoes. Men, on the other hand, wear winter clothing weighing 6 1-5 pounds. In summer, women's clothing [again including weight of shoes] is only seven-tenths of a pound while men's summer clothing weighs 3 pounds.

So, it's no surprise that men workers are comfortable at a 71¾ degree room temperature and that women require a 76 degree room temperature, or that in summer a room temperature of 80 doesn't bother the women but anything over 76 makes the men hot under the collar.

In an effort to solve this some-like-it-hot, some-like-it-cold controversy which rages, summer and winter, in almost all offices, the Journal of the American Medical association offers this suggestion:

"If women would dress in winter with clothes comparable in warmth to those of men they would be comfortable in a temperature of about 72 Fahrenheit instead of 76, and there would be less discord over the matter of room temperature. Conversely, if men would take off their vests, coats, and collars in hot weather, buildings would not have to be cooled below 83 Fahrenheit instead of 76 to 80 as at present."

Library Concerts.

Plans for a "small change" weekend might well include the free Saturday afternoon concert of recorded music at the Chicago Public library. The concert begins at 1:30 p. m. and lasts until 3.

Sweet Explanation.

The owner of a chain of candy stores visits each of her shops daily. To do so, she takes a taxicab on her rounds. Recently, the cab driver, waiting for her on a busy thorofare, was accosted by the mounted policeman. The cab driver poked his head out of the window and attempted an explanation. "I have a passenger, officer," he said, and then, shrugging his shoulders he added, "she's in there—she's just dips about candy and this is the third store we've been to already."

Nuisance Value.

HOW TO ANNOY AN EMPLOYER:

Tell him, when applying for a position, that you need the job terribly, basing your application not on your ability but on personal problems.

Tell him, after you get the job, that you are working twice as hard as any other girl on the floor. [If you are, you can bet your new earrings he knows it already.]

Correct a sentence in dictation by saying, "that doesn't make sense," instead of suggesting courteously, after he has finished, "I wonder if I have this paragraph correct," thus giving him a chance to reword it without feeling like a schoolboy in knee pants.

THOUSANDS SEE GUN FIGHT; ONE KILLED, 4 SHOT

Police Storm Tenement; Two Are Wounded.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 16 [Special].—Thousands of persons watched a 90 minute gun battle and tear gas siege in the tenement district here tonight between police and a man who had killed his stepdaughter and wounded his wife. The slayer was critically wounded and two policemen received minor wounds.

While spectators watched from behind doorways and parked autos 40 policemen armed with submachine guns, rifles, and tear gas bombs closed in on the two and a half story building.

Cut Hole Thru Roof.

A five man squad of police scaled the rear of the structure by a ladder and cut a hole in the roof to rescue three other members of the family. Policemen then went thru the darkened building, trapped the gunman in the beam of their flashlight, and felled him with revolver shots.

Three Hide on Top Floor.

The wounded policemen were Lieut. Jeremiah Long and Patrolman Joseph Hayes.

John Gary, stepson of the killer, said Gary and the two women victims had quarreled before the shooting started. Gary barricaded himself on the ground floor when police answered the alarm and dared them to take him.

Two Killed, Two Wounded.

Edgefield, S. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—Sheriff W. D. Allen of Edgefield county and Fred Dorn, a sharecropper, were killed in a gun battle at a farmhouse 11 miles north of here today.

Two other men, Deputy Sheriff W. L. Clark, and George Logue, were wounded in the gun play, which began when the officers went to Logue's home with warrants for two persons sought in a murder case.

Killed Resisting Arrest.

Warsaw, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP).—Kenneth Leroy Taylor, 26 years old, was fatally shot today by officers attempting to serve warrants on him, his brother William, and his father, Albert, in their second floor Main street apartment. The warrants charged the Taylors with disturbing the peace.

A Hancock county coroner's jury later described the shooting as "an act of self-defense" by Justice of Peace James Cummings, 44, after hearing him testify he was assisting City Marshal Lloyd Lapsley, only police officer in this town, serve the warrants when the slaying occurred.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16 (AP).—An alleged attempt by a 17 year old student at the University of California at Los Angeles to extort $5,000 from the co-ed daughter of a wealthy Beverly Hills family, under threat of disfiguring her with acid, was disclosed by FBI agents today.

Richard Hood, head of the FBI office, said the boy is Alfred Arndt Srere, son of Harry Srere, president of an amusement firm and that the intended victim is Betty Berch, 17, daughter of Samuel H. Berch, president of a dairy company.

Hood said the youth, who is to be arraigned tomorrow on suspicion of attempted extortion, told him he did not want the $5,000, but desired to study the psychology of some one under such a threat and later write a story about it. Hood disclosed that Srere was arrested after he left a spot where the girl's mother, complying with two alleged extortion notes, left an envelope containing the money.

Police and more than 100 bystanders gathered around the locked car and watched as the dog stood on the front seat, braced his right foot on the wheel, and put his left on the horn at intervals.

The master was G. K. Nachtwey, 58 Forest avenue, Riverside. When he finally returned to put an end to the incessant blasts, the dog barked defiantly at the crowd and settled complacently in the seat.

HUNTER SHOOTS SELF AFTER HE'S ARRESTED AS DRUNKEN DRIVER

Shortly after he had been given a ticket for drunken driving while on a week-end hunting trip near Lake Bluff, in Lake county, Coral Conway, 29 years old, shot himself above the heart last evening in his home at 306 East Wisconsin avenue, Lake Forest. Altho the bullet pierced his body, he did not die. Last night he remained in a serious condition at the Alice Home hospital in the suburb.

Police and physicians expressed amazement over his survival, even for a short time, when they learned he was shot with a steel jacket bullet from a .45 caliber automatic pistol. Conway, a refrigerator service man for a Waukegan department store, told his wife, Katherine, he had been released on bond following his arrest for drunken driving.

She said he shot himself when she stepped out of the room after helping him off with his hunting jacket. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Conway, were present in the home at the time.

BURGLAR SLAIN BY PROPRIETOR OF S. SIDE STORE

A burglar who broke into the restaurant at 7910 South Park avenue early this morning was shot and killed by Raymond M. Grattan, the proprietor, who lives in the rear with his family.

Grattan told Burnside police he was aroused by the noise of the burglar's entry. He seized his rifle and challenged the intruder. When there was no answer, he fired one shot that took effect.

Police took the burglar to St. George's hospital, where he was declared dead. His identity was not learned.

TWO MORE FLEE SCHOOL, UNDER NEW DIRECTOR

Two inmates of the Illinois State Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, escaped Saturday night and yesterday, bringing to three the number who have fled since Russell W. Ballard became superintendent of the institution on Nov. 1.

Edward Washington, 18 years old, colored, who has been sent to the school three times from Chicago for petty thievery, broke away from guards, scaled the fence, and has not been caught. Carlo Rosati, 14, of 923 Sedgwick street, sent to the school six months ago for robbery, walked off the playground yesterday afternoon. He was caught later trying to hitch a ride on the highway.

Last week one of the school's football players, Lee Polk, 16, colored, 1253 Hastings street, neglected to catch the school bus after a game away from home. He still is missing.

BODY OF SAILING VICTIM FOUND NEAR MUSKEGON

The body of Herbert W. Hainsfurther, 47 years old, Chicago district manager for the Formica Insulation company, 111 North Canal street, was found on the shore of Lake Michigan yesterday near Muskegon, Mich. He and Harry De Lisle, 50, president of the Engineering Sales company of Sheboygan, Wis., were swept from a schooner by a wave outside the harbor at Sheboygan Sept. 27. De Lisle's body has not been recovered.

Trucking Supplies, Trailer Destroyed in $10,000 Fire

Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused early yesterday by fire which broke out in the two story building at 2429 Wabash avenue, occupied by the Superior Trailer Manufacturing company. A quantity of trucking supplies and a commercial trailer were destroyed. The fire resulted in a 2-11 alarm.

2 ROBBERS ADMIT 31 HOLDUPS HERE IN THREE MONTHS

Two robbers with criminal records were held yesterday by Chicago Lawn police and have confessed to 31 holdups in Chicago in the last three months, the police said.

Held were Herbert Bierman, 21 years old, 343 East 64th street, who served two terms in the Bridewell for robbery and embezzlement, and Benny Clowes, 18, of 6249 South Union avenue, who was placed on probation on a robbery charge last May. They were arrested in Montgomery City, Mo., and were returned to Chicago by Detectives Roy Hallen and George Gore.

The pair specialized in holding up truck drivers, netting about $4,000, they said. Bierman's wife of a month, Betty, 22, was arrested with them. St. Louis, Mo., police said she assisted in four holdups in St. Louis and is being held there.

Burglars Borrow Tools in Plant to Crack Safe

Officials of the Illinois Lock company, 737 West Jackson boulevard, reported yesterday that a safe in the company offices had been cracked some time Saturday night. The burglars probably worked a couple of hours and got $10 in petty cash for their efforts. It was all clear profit, however, the police were told. The burglars had no investment in tools. They borrowed locksmith tools on the premises.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks last night resumed the National Hockey league lead and remained the only undefeated team when they whipped the tough and earnest Detroit Red Wings, 3 to 2, before a near capacity crowd of 18,146 in Chicago Stadium.

The Hawks were leading, 3 to 0, going into the third period as a result of a first period goal by Cully Dahlstrom and a pair in the second period, one by Bill Thoms and another by Dahlstrom. But Sid Abel counted for the visitors in the first minute and Carl Liscombe rang up another in 5:21 of the third period.

Never a Dull Moment.

While the hardest hockey was played in the Wings' belated drive for a tie there wasn't a dull moment in the entire 60 minutes of battling. The show was helped by the debut of a new referee, one Bill Chadwick, who handled the game in great shape, even introducing a system of elaborate gestures to signal the cause of his rulings.

The crowd got on young Bill a couple of times, but that was because they apparently did not know the rules. Once he called a minor penalty shot on Sammy Lo Presti because Sammy hid the puck in his upholstery and another time he locked up Joe Cooper because he delivered a body check with a broken stick in his hand, an offense clearly covered in the little blue book.

The first goal of the evening was scored in 16 minutes and 10 seconds of the opening period. Dahlstrom, who scored from close in, was assisted by Phil Hergesheimer and Alex Kaleta.

Thoms Slams One In.

Kaleta went over the middle of the blue line and as he did so Defensemen Alex Motter and Giacomo Orlando jolted him to the ice and both sat on him when they might have been more profitably engaged elsewhere. The puck slid to Hergesheimer on the right boards, who passed to Dahlstrom, who scored from close in.

The Hawk lead became 2 to 0 in one minute and 58 seconds of the second period when the Wings were short handed because Doug McCaig was sent to the penalty box for charging into the boards. Johnny Mariucci slid the puck to Joe Cooper, who was on the left boards ten feet inside the blue line. Joe slid the puck obliquely to Thoms, stationed near the cage to Mowers' right and Thoms whanged it home with lightning rapidity.

Mr. Dahlstrom Again.

The third Chicago tally was registered just as the second period went into its final minute. Again Dahlstrom was assisted by Hergesheimer and Kaleta.

The Hawks' victory was their second on their home ice and their third of the season. They also have played a tie to give them seven points out of a possible eight. The Hawks will meet the champion Boston Bruins here Thursday night.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 16.—Chicago's south side Cardinals did their best today to help out their north side pals, the Bears, in the race for the western division National Football league title, but didn't have quite enough zing to match the incredible exploits of the Green Bay Packers' incredible Don Hutson. The Packers came out on top, 17 to 9, in a jolting, bruising ball game and retained their narrow lead over the Bears in the photo finish pro race.

Hutson was at his superlative best today before 15,495 of the home folks. He had to be to keep those upstart Cardinals from running away with a game in which they weren't supposed to have much of a look-in. Don made a phenomenal catch of one of Cecil Isbell's long passes for the Packers' first score, a few minutes after the Cardinals had started from their own 46 yard line to pound down the field for three first downs and a field goal by Bill Daddio. Hutson kicked the extra point to give the Packers a 7 to 3 margin at the end of the first period, but he was far from being thru.

Hinkle Kicks Field Goal.

Clark Hinkle added a thirty-five yard field goal in the second period to swell the Packer total to ten points, but the Cards cut that to 10 to 9 in seven minutes of the third period with a sustained drive of seventy-seven yards. Then Hutson went to work again.

An exchange of punts early in the fourth quarter gave the ball to the Packers on their own 29, and they pounded seventy-one yards for a touchdown scored by Hutson on—of all things—a running play. It was one of those end around plays that the Packers occasionally flash to shake Hutson loose, and it worked to perfection this time, not a hand being laid on Hutson as he went over from the 11 yard line.

Goldberg's Best Back.

The Cardinals showed marked contempt for the Packers right at the start of the game, piling up three first downs in a row to give them a first down edge for the day, 16 to 13. Featuring the passing of Johnny Clement and the running of Marshall Goldberg—the best back on the field today, doing anything—the Cardinals drove from midfield to the Packers' 9 yard line, where a pass from Clement was caught—incomplete—by Johnny Hall just outside the end zone. Then Clement went back to pass and lost thirteen yards, whereupon Bill Daddio was sent into the game to kick a field goal from the Packers' 27 to put the Cardinals ahead, 3 to 0.

After the ensuing kickoff Hutson took Isbell's pass, but was out of bounds, so Isbell and Hinkle ran the ball three times and wound up on the Cardinals' 25 yard line. Isbell faded back, fired a long, arching pass across the field, and Hutson, somehow or other, got up to the ball and made the catch at the goal line a

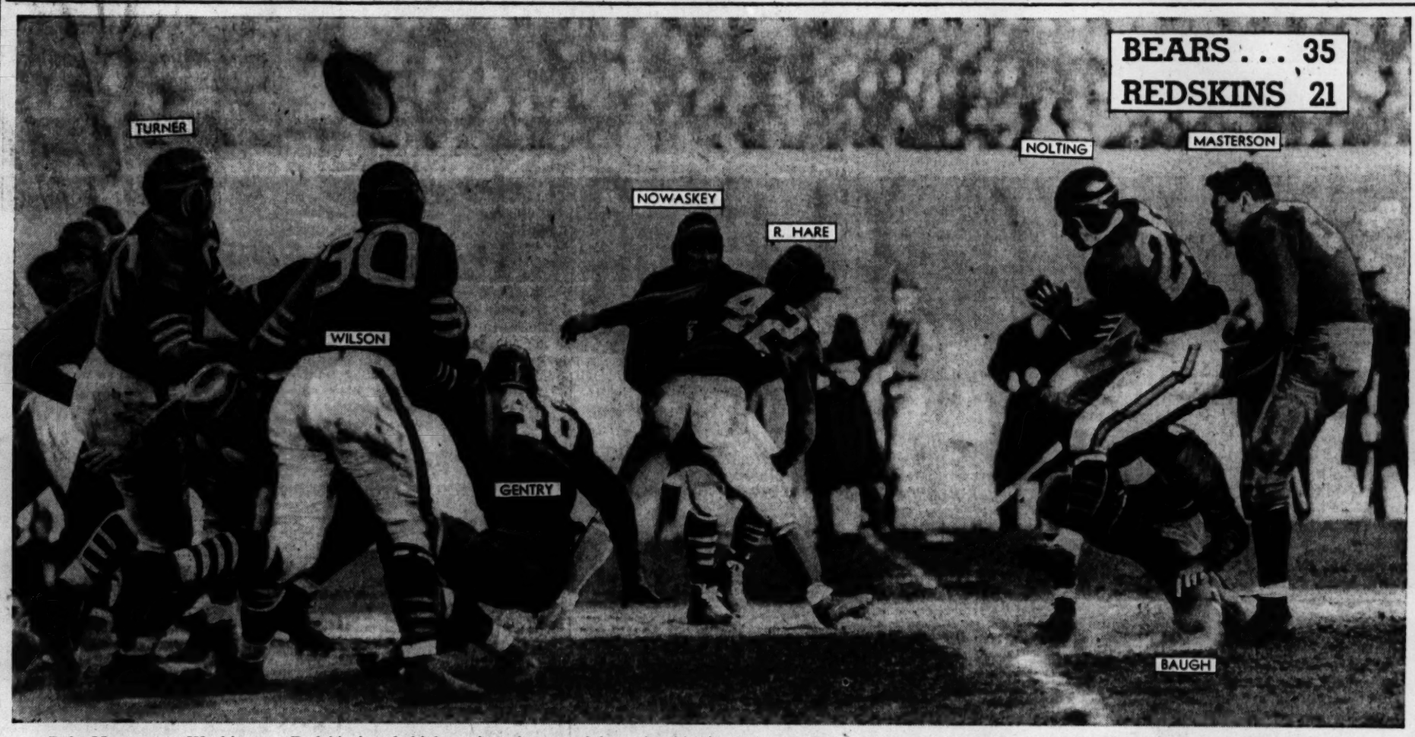
REDSKINS GET THAT EXTRA POINT, BUT NOLTING WAS TRYING



Bob Masterson, Washington Redskins' end, kicks point after touchdown in third quarter to cut Bears' lead to 21 to 14 in yesterday's National Football league battle in Wrigley field. Sammy Baugh, whose passes bothered the Bears thruout the game, holds ball for teammate. Ray Nolting, Bears' back, makes determined effort to block the kick, but he's a fraction of a second late. A crowd of 30,095 saw the Bears win to remain in race for western division title. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Washington's year old wait for vengeance against Chicago's Bears failed yesterday in Wrigley field, but the Redskins at least had the pleasure of helping to build up another huge total of points. Whereas the Bears scored all of the 73 points in last December's title game, the Redskins cut in for 21 of the 56 made yesterday. Divided in their proper order, this gave the National Football league champions a 35 to 21 triumph before 30,095 in perfect football weather.

Sammy Baugh almost wore out his good right arm flipping short and long passes. His accuracy, blended with an unexpectedly strong running attack, kept the easterners very much in the ball game as late as the third period. The taciturn Texan pitched 33 passes, 18 of which found their mark for 254 yards.

Redskins Keep Trying.

The Bears, after what is becoming a characteristic nervous start, managed to lead at the end of the first quarter, 7 to 0. They built it up to 21 to 7 at the half. Then the Redskins moved up to 21 to 14 in the third quarter. The Bears came back in this period to make it 28 to 14, increased this with another touchdown early in the fourth quarter, then weren't too worried while the Redskins ended the point production three minutes from the finish.

Once again it was George [One Play] McAfee who stood out alone among the Bears' galaxy of fine backs. He caught two touchdown passes thrown by Bob Snyder who, incidentally, kicked four of the points after touchdowns. McAfee also made a fifty-four yard punt return and stopped one of Washington's numerous unsuccessful scoring thrusts with a pass interception.

The Redskins won the statistics. They made twice as many first downs, 18 to 9, and had the bulge in total yards gained, 334 to 306.

Bears Stay on the Pace.

This victory by the Bears, their seventh in eight league games, allowed them to stay on the pace in their weekly chase of the Green Bay Packers. The Wisconsin northmen, by beating the Cardinals for their eighth triumph in nine games, now have only Detroit and Washington to defeat for assurance of a tie for the Western section honors. The Bears yesterday closed their Wrigley field stand of six straight games, and now must take to the road for the remainder of the season.

The Bears again were afflicted with fumblitis, making five errors, but fortunately recovered twice. The Redskins fumbled twice, but fell on the ball each time.

Bears March Seventy-Six Yards.

A seventy-six yard march, including two penalties for twenty yards, led to Chicago's first touchdown with six and a half minutes gone in the first

BY ARCH WARD.

BILLY HILLENBRAND, Indiana sophomore, has scored at least one touchdown in every game he has played as a backfield man, both in high school and college, with the exception of the Notre Dame-Indiana contest this fall. . . . As a 14 year old freshman, Hillenbrand made the Reitz Memorial High school eleven in Evansville as an end, where he played with his brother, Joe, who was a Purdue lineman last season. . . . After four games the right half back, Joe, was injured and Coach Don Ping moved Hillenbrand into the spot, where he scored in the last five games. . . . The next three years he played left half back, scoring from one to four touchdowns in every engagement. . . . As the fireball of the Hoosiers' attack, Hillenbrand has scored against Detroit, Texas Christian, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Northwestern. . . . The Indiana university band was willing to play between halves of the Redskin-Bear game in Wrigley field yesterday, but other Big Ten universities objected. . . . Chicago alumni of Dartmouth college, who rarely have an opportunity to see any of their athletic teams in action, are quite excited about the fact that the Indians' hockey team is to play the University of Illinois ice champs in the Chicago Arena the night of Dec. 22. . . . The teams also will play in Champaign Dec. 23. . . . Connie Mack's Athletics will be the main tenants of the ball park in Anaheim, Cal., their spring training base. . . . The Anaheim team in the California state league will be transferred to San José.

The Jones system is gradually getting the heave-ho at Southern California. . . . The tall back in the Trojans' play under Sam Barry is the left half back instead of the quarter back. . . . Consequently, against Notre Dame Saturday, Bob Robertson will be at left half and Bill Bundy will be moved to quarter. . . . Paul Taylor will be right half back and Bob Musick will remain at full back. . . . One of the newer methods of going crazy is to attempt to solve that puzzle Dr. Eddie Anderson, Iowa football coach, carries around with him. . . . It's a miniature metal tennis racket with a cup in the center. . . . In the cup is a ball bearing which you are supposed to lift from the cup without the aid of fingernails.

Is the bit that comes in the middle,
Not the beginning, for then we are

O, the hardest part of a long hard trail
To flash a light on the darkened path

COMMITTEE WILL ARRIVE TODAY TO PICK ALL-STARS

Day Retains Lead

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 16. (AP).—Champion Ned Day of West Allis, Wis., led Challenger Lowell Jackson of St. Louis tonight in their national match game bowling series by a point margin of 283.46 to 249.26. The men have rolled 60 games and have 100 to go. They bowled 30 games here over the week-end. Day averaged 199.3 this afternoon to Jackson's 194.1, but Jackson was the better tonight with a 195.6 average to Day's 181.5.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Members of the committee which has set up the All-Star eliminations and National match game bowling tournament to be held in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14 will start arriving in Chicago today for the meeting tomorrow at which the field of 60 All-Stars will be named.

Coming from outside Chicago will be Herman Mergard of Cincinnati, president, and Eddie Linsz of Cleveland, secretary of the Bowling Proprietors association of America, cosponsor of the event with the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

It's a Huge Field.

Linsz has taken the entries from among whom the field is to be selected, a group now numbering more than 130, from 61 cities in 19 states. Others expected are Harold Allen of Detroit, E. A. Doerr and Harry Feuser of St. Louis, and Eli Whitney and Hank Marino of Milwaukee.

In addition to picking the field, the committee will check over the schedule, both for the eliminations and the final 40 game block of the Ned Day-Lowell Jackson championship match.

Wilman Beats Zajac.

New entries in the field are those of Eddie Kraft, Fort Wayne's best known bowler, and Vern Anderson, Cambridge, Wis., recreation center manager. Kraft long has been a competitor in match events and major sweepstakes.

Joe Wilman yesterday won his third of four tournament practice matches. He defeated Eddie Zajac, Ambrosia Beers star, 24.08 to 23.29 by the Petersen scoring system on the Dearborn Jackson Recreation alleys.

Powerful Gophers Roll Along; Seek 17th Straight vs. Badgers

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Minnesota's mighty football machine just keeps rolling along. Favorites in other sections, Texas, Mississippi State, Stanford and Fordham, have fallen in critical November games, but Minnesota now has won 16 consecutive games and has clinched at least a share in the Big Nine conference championship which the Gophers are defending.

If Wisconsin should defeat Minnesota Saturday in Minneapolis, the winner of the Michigan and Ohio State game in Ann Arbor would tie the Gophers for the title. If Michigan and Ohio State tie, then Minnesota will be champion, win or lose against Wisconsin.

Some Poorly Based Criticism.

More important, of course, is that for a second year Minnesota has led midwestern football to supremacy in the national scene. No section of the country, not even the state of Texas, whose extravagant claims frequently are disproved in intersectional test, can match an array of teams such as Minnesota, Michigan, Notre Dame, Northwestern and Ohio State. Lest it has been forgotten, remember that Missouri, now champion of the Big Six, was beaten by Ohio State, which also holds the season's high score against Southern California.

Minnesota's power has been criticized as producing an uninteresting type of football. It is none the less devastating because of the criticism which is illogical unless it is considered that by power one means a continuity of line smashes of three or four yards. When Bill Daley or Bob Sweiger crack thru a line and then run from twelve to twenty yards in the open field the criticism obviously is absurd.

Iowa is illustration for clinical purposes. The Hawkeyes have an average team by conference standards. They have won two conference games and lost four and only the one point defeat by Purdue kept them from hitting the median in the league. Iowa has a pair of fine running backs in Bernie Mertes and Bill Green, better than average passing from Tom Farmer, and fair kicking. But these assets depreciate 50 per cent before a line superiority such as Minnesota possessed last Saturday.

In weight and ability and in personnel the Gophers had the prerequisites for an easy victory based on line play. Because of this superiority, Minnesota had 75 rushing plays in the Iowa game. The Hawkeyes had only 27 rushing plays. Obviously Minnesota's ball carriers had three chances to one to pile up yardage.

The Line Makes the Backs.

The devastating effect of plunges by its 200 pounders was made possible by Minnesota's domination of line play. The Gopher line not only stacks up as the best in the nation but there is at least one competent replacement for each and in several spots two substitutes are on a par and nearly equal to the first team man.

At the start of the season Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach, admitted that the 1941 Gopher line was better than the 1940 line. Improvement is the reason, since no sophomore has been included in the 1941 first team line starting any game. Bill Baumgartner, right end, and Helge Pukema, right guard, have been lost by injuries without noticeable let down in efficiency. Baumgartner missed four games. Pukema was injured at Michigan and missed the Northwestern and Nebraska games and was injured again on the opening kickoff at Iowa.

Best proof of the power of Minnesota's line is victory over Northwestern and Nebraska when the Gopher attack had been limited by injury to Bruce Smith and Herman Frickey. Smith is Minnesota's only passer of ability and he is the best punter. His return in the Iowa game complicated Iowa's defensive problem since Smith completed his first passes for respective gains of 38, 9, and 25 yards.

NO FOREIGN IDEAS OF GOVERNMENT

President Roosevelt in a speech on Nov. 2, 1940, three days before his re-election, said:

"There is nothing secret about our foreign policy. . . . I have stated it many times before, not only in words, but in action. I now restate it.

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war. At the same time we seek to keep foreign conceptions of government out of the United States.

"The second purpose of this policy is to keep war as far away as possible from the shores of the entire western hemisphere."

DALLAS AWARDED NATIONAL AAU '42 TRACK MEET

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP).—For the first time since the fireworks of a decade ago over attempted exclusion of Negro athletes, the Amateur Athletic union decided today to let its national track meet go south next year, awarding the event to Dallas, Tex.

At the same time, the organization's nominating caucus recommended the reelection of Louis Di Benedetto of New Orleans as national AAU president, and election of Fred Steers, Chicago lawyer; Roscoe [Torchy] Torrance of Seattle Wash.; Dr. W. H. Parker of Richmond, Va., and Henry H. Coit of Buffalo, N. Y., as first, second, third, and fourth vice presidents, respectively. The convention will name its officers tomorrow.

Retain Metric Systems.

Awarding of the track meet was the chief item of business in the opening general sessions of the convention, and highlighted such other actions as the approval to write into the books all except a few of the 193 applications for records by athletes in track, swimming, weight lifting, and horseshoe pitching; assignment of dates and sites for 1942 championship meets in all sports, and a decision to retain the metric system of measurements in track competition.

The convention, however, turned down a constitutional amendment which would have slightly liberalized, for amateur athletes in the United States military service, the rules governing retention of simon pure status if an amateur should compete against a professional in closed service events.

New Orleans Declines Meet.

Not since 1910 has Dixie entertained the track athletes. The south almost got the meet 10 years ago when the convention voted it to New Orleans. But a few months before the date of the event a major row came up over a statement by the New Orleans association to AAU headquarters that it could not hold the affair if Negro athletes competed. And, amid cries of discrimination, the organization made a last minute switch and took the event to Lincoln, Neb.

During today's discussion of the 1942 meet, which include both senior and junior championship events and will be sponsored by the Variety club of Texas, Dallas delegates told the convention there would be exclusion of no eligible athlete.

Turn Down Two Biozis Marks.

The convention turned down two claims for shotput records by Al Biozis, the Georgetown giant. In the Polo Grounds, New York, last June he tossed the 16 pound ball 56 feet 6¼ inches and the eight pound shot 74 feet 2¼ inches. The meeting held that both heaves were made over a downgrade course, and that the 16 pound ball used was not standard.

Among records approved were:

Dubs, Nyberg Meet Tonight in 10 Rounds

Harvey Dubs and George Nyberg, Canadian welterweight boxers, will meet in a 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

Nyberg has scored 29 victories in a three year campaign, while Dubs has recorded 25 triumphs during a two year career.

Marigold regulars have refused to install either as a favorite. However, Nyberg appears to be the better of the rival contestants, especially since he has not suffered a knockout while Harvey twice has been beaten in this manner.

Both these setbacks were the result of left hooks to the jaw, a weapon Nyberg will concentrate on this evening. Supporting matches:

LA GRANGE, 27; HINSDALE, 0.

Among the stars at Fort Sheridan are Benton Holden, bantamweight; Joe McGinnis, featherweight; Jack McClintock, lightweight, and Eddie Doyle, welterweight.

Thumlert Sole Absentee.

All except Thumlert, who earned one of his team's two victories against the Catholic Youth organization Greens last Wednesday, will be able to compete this evening, Capt. Earl L. B. Clark, athletic officer at Camp Grant, said last night.

There will be eight contests on the card, but only three have been arranged. These will bring together Palocca and Richard McLain, Belterbide and McGinnis, and Lopez and McClintock. The only newcomer in this group is McLain, who has replaced Lee Hestter as Fort Sheridan's 112 pound standard bearer following the latter's first round knockout by his Milwaukee opponent in last week's interclub meeting.

Finish Program Today.

Remainder of the program will be made up when Maj. William S. Allison, morale officer at Fort Sheridan, arrives this afternoon. In addition to Holden, McGinnis, McClintock, and Doyle, Fort Sheridan's color bearers will be George Hoyte, middleweight; Cleum Labluhn, light heavyweight, and Bob Davis, heavyweight.

Tonight's show, which will be restricted to soldiers, will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Another league card will be offered in the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium tomorrow between teams from the I. A. C. and Ashland A. C. The show is a return engagement between these squads, the Ashland club previously scoring a 7 to 1 victory when the I. A. C. lost three decisions by default.

SPARTA SOCCER ELEVEN DEFEATS CANADIANS, 4-0

BY OFFSIDE.

Sparta defeated Weston United of Winnipeg, Canada, yesterday in the Sparta stadium, 4 to 0, in a benefit soccer match for the British and Czech war relief funds. The game attracted a crowd of 5,000.

Sparta scored early, and tho there were times when the Canadians threatened, it was never in real danger.

Score in Five Minutes.

Jimmy MacDermott put Sparta in front after five minutes of play by tipping the ball into the net from three yards out during a scramble between the defensive full back and goal keeper for the ball. It was at this stage that Weston assumed one of its rare offensives, and there was no further scoring in the half.

Things moved rapidly in the second half, however, after MacDermott scored in the 15th minute from a well placed corner kick by Joe Padalik. Three minutes later the Chicagoans tallied again thru Frank Pavlicek, who booted the ball in from 15 yards out. Five minutes after that Willard Lang scored the most spectacular goal of the game when he drove from 20 yards out to beat Alec Lockwood, Canadian goal keeper.

Vikings Beat Joliet.

In a curtain raising match, the Vikings, who will meet Sparta on Thanksgiving day in a vital league game, whipped Joliet, 3 to 0. Lineup:

GEORGE BLOSSOM NOMINATED FOR USGA PRESIDENCY

Expected to Take Office in January.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

George W. Blossom Jr. of the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest has been nominated for the 1942 presidency of the United States Golf association, according to an announcement yesterday by the No. 1 governing body of the game in this country. Since nomination for a USGA post is tantamount to election, Mr. Blossom is expected to take office when the annual meeting of the USGA is held in New York City in January.

Mr. Blossom will be the third Chicagoan to achieve the presidency of the USGA. His predecessors in the position were two members of the Glen View club, Silas H. Strawn in 1911 and 1912 and Melvin A. Traylor in 1928. Robert M. Cutting of the Hinsdale club, who was the nominee for the 1933 presidency, died suddenly a few months before he was due to take office.

Five on Committee.

Mr. Blossom has been nominated by a committee consisting of Harrison R. Johnston of Minneapolis and S. Davidson Herron of Pittsburgh, both former national amateur title holders; George V. Rotan of Houston, Tex.; Sherrill Sherman and John G. Jackson, both of New York.

The next president was born in Chicago on July 10, 1890. He was graduated from Yale university in 1914, and served as vice president of the Chicago District Golf association in 1928 and 1929 and as president in 1930 and 1931. He is president of Fred S. James & Co., insurance brokers. He has been a member of the USGA executive committee since January, 1933, was elected a vice president in April, 1939, and has served in that capacity since then. He also has been chairman of the implements and ball committee since 1935. As such he has directed the USGA's development of regulations governing the initial velocity of the golf ball and of specification for markings on iron clubs. He also conceived the idea of a USGA museum.

Another Chicagoan, Too.

Another Chicagoan on the nominating ticket is James H. Douglas Jr. of the Shoreacres club, who has been named for general counsel of the association, succeeding Charles W. Littlefield of Montclair, N. J., who is nominated to take Mr. Blossom's place as vice president.

The complete ticket presented by the nominating committee follows:

President—George W. Blossom Jr., Chicago.

The Greater Error.

I do not weep for errors I have made
From over-kindness to the indigent
At such time as I freely gave them aid,
Knowing my gift would be unwisely spent.
But there is sorrow in my heart today
For worthy mendicants I have refused,
For footsore beggars that I sent away
And even castigated and abused.

I somehow feel the Master smiles when we,
Out of the kindness of a simple heart,
Give undeserving people charity;
But how the very cheeks of Christ must smart
To see us turn away his worthy poor
Who for His sake their poverty endure.

Fenwick defeated St. Ignatius, 6 to 0, yesterday in Hanson park to win the north section championship in the Catholic High School league. The victory also gave Fenwick the right to meet Leo, south section title holder, for the league crown next Sunday afternoon, and the winner will oppose the Chicago Public High School league champion on Saturday, Nov. 29 in Mayor Kelly's annual Christmas charity game.

The winning Fenwick touchdown was made in the first quarter. Joe Wenskus of St. Ignatius punted weakly and the ball rolled out of bounds on his 26 yard line. Angelo Provenzano carried the ball three times for eighteen, five, and three yards to smash over for the touchdown.

Can't Stop Baranowski.

Meanwhile, Leo, after winning the section crown last week, concluded its south zone schedule by routing De La Salle, 18 to 0, on Shewbridge field. Henry [Babe] Baranowski, the Lions' scoring ace, registered only one point after touchdown to bring his total points for the season to 82, but he was on the passing end of the two touchdowns made by Bob Walsh.

Early in the second period Babe threw a short pass to Walsh in the end zone, and just before the quarter ended he hurled one fourteen yards to Walsh over the goal line. In the fourth period Babe handed the ball to Bob Kelly on a reverse and Kelly dashed twenty-seven yards.

Power Leads St. George.

Tom Power scored a pair of touchdowns to lead St. George to a 26 to 0 victory over Mount Carmel on Stagg field. In the second period he intercepted a pass and ran fifty-five yards. In the final period St. George drove sixty-six yards down to the 14 yard stripe and Power went across. Bill O'Shaughnessy intercepted a pass in the fourth quarter and ran thirty-five yards to account for another touchdown.

Joliet scored in the final period to win from St. Philip, 6 to 0. It was the sixth straight south section setback for St. Philip. In other league games Loyola turned back De Paul, 14 to 6, in Winnemac park, and St. Patrick trimmed Weber, 20 to 6, in St. Philip stadium. Lineups:

GIANTS TRAMPLE RAMS, 49-14, TO APPROACH TITLE

New York, Nov. 16 (AP).—The New York Giants rolled to within one victory of the eastern title in the National Football league today by crushing the Cleveland Rams, 49 to 14, before 32,740 at the Polo Grounds.

STEELERS WIN, 14-7

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP).—A Jones boy blasted expectations of the Brooklyn Dodgers for an easy victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers here today as the Steelers defeated the Dodgers, 14 to 7, in a National league game.

Half Back Art Jones from Richmond university led the Steelers to their first victory in nine starts. At the start of the fourth quarter with the score tied at 7 to 7 Jones took a reverse from Full Back Dick Riffle on the Dodger 25 yard line and was off around the Dodger right end for a sprint to a touchdown.

McAfee Scores 12 Points, but Falls Behind Packers' Hutson

Tho George McAfee made his eighth and ninth touchdowns of the season in the Bears' 35 to 21 triumph over the Redskins, yesterday, he lost two points in his individual scoring duel with Don Hutson. The Packers' stringy end, making two touchdowns and two extra points by kicking, raised his total to 67 for a 13 point lead over McAfee. Hutson now has two games in which to break the National Football league record of 79 points established in 1934 by the Bears' Jack Manders—a total which included only three touchdowns. That season Automatic Jack kicked 10 field goals and added 31 extra points after touchdowns.

Luke Johnsos, Bears' end coach, deserves an assist on McAfee's ninth touchdown of the season, which developed in the fourth quarter when Bob Snyder deftly passed over Ray Hare's head to George on the 3 yard line. Luke had called to the coaches' bench from his perch in the upper deck that such a play was a cinch touchdown.

"Best game Washington has played in two years," boomed Owner-Coach-President George Halas of the Bears. "Don't take my word for it," continued George, "two Washington newspaper men told me it was so."

Charles [Boots] Weber of the P. K. Wrigley Los Angeles organization, is bidding for the pro All-Star game to be played in the California city early in January. Weber believes his Wrigley field is the logical spot for the game, which in recent years has been played in Gilmore stadium in that metropolis. The National league also is contemplating moving the game to the Coliseum.

Gary Famiglietti, the Bears' full back, will marry Miss Eleanor Zuegner of Chicago Thursday morning. The wedding will be in St. Francis Xavier church, Belmont and Francisco avenues. John Siegal will be the best man and Ray [Scooter] McLean one of the ushers.

Among yesterday's crowd of 30,095 was C. P. McAfee of Russell, Ky., father of the Bears' George. You can imagine that the elder McAfee is a busy person, what with keeping track of eight other sons. The eldest is Dr. Paul McAfee of Portsmouth, the only son who did not play football in high school or college.

In failing to attempt a single pass in their victory over Brooklyn yesterday, the Pittsburgh Steelers became the second team in the league's history in this respect. On Sept. 10, 1937, Detroit did not pass once in beating the Rams in Cleveland, 28 to 0, during a rainstorm. There are two other games on record when a team failed to gain by passing. New York completed four pitches for a minus three yards against Washington a few seasons ago. Last year, in Buffalo, the Cards tried six passes against the Lions, none of which connected.

Bears Defeat Redskins and Baugh, 35-21

quarter. The Bears started from their 44 after a Washington punt and at one time were back on their 30 because of a fine for holding. Here Hugh Gallarneau dropped Sid Luckman's lateral, but picked it up on the bounce and dodged for thirty-three yards to the Redskins' 36 yard line.

The next major play was Luckman's pass to Dick Plasman, who went two yards after catching it on the 23. Gallarneau twisted thru for five and two plunges by Bill Osmanski for three and five yards brought the ball to the 10 yard line. Osmanski, on second down, drove to the 6 yard line, and Gallarneau went over on a quick opening. Snyder kicked the extra point.

After two punts following the kickoff, the Redskins made their first dangerous moves. Clarence Seymour of Oklahoma, who was quite a runner all day long, brought the kick back twenty yards to the Redskins' 32. They were on the Bears' 31 when the first quarter ended, the big play being the first of several screen passes, this one by Frank Filchock.

Swisher Takes Field Goal Kick.

Ki Aldrich tried a field goal when the attack bogged early in the second quarter, but Bob Swisher caught the ball, which was kicked hurriedly and dashed to the Bears' 46. When McAfee fumbled a lateral, Fred Davis recovered on Washington's 47 yard line. Baugh's passes, one good for thirty-four yards to Wayne Millner, brought the Redskins to the 16 yard line. After Millner dropped a pass in the end zone, McAfee intercepted the next one and ran back ten yards to the 15.

Andy Farkas took McAfee's punt on his 41 and came down the east side line, helped by blockers and his own change of pace. Fifteen yards from the goal, he swung to his right and went over. Aldrich picked up the extra point.

This stirred the Bears to action, and before the quarter was over they had scored twice. They drove for sixty-five yards after Ray McLean brought back the kickoff from the 16 yard line. There was an eighteen yard pass by Luckman to Ken Kavanaugh, a running first down by Norm Standlee and McAfee and a twenty-one yard jab by McLean, who sidestepped several tacklers.

This put the ball on the 9 yard line. After an offside misadventure Standlee drove over from the 2 yard line. Snyder again kicked the point.

McAfee Travels Fifty-four Yards.

McAfee played a big part in the third score. He took Baugh's punt and returned fifty-four yards, finally stumbling when he seemed to be in the clear. His mad dash ended on the 22 yard line. Snyder pitched a pass to Don Siegal for ten yards, then after an incomplete one, arched a high one to McAfee on the 7. McAfee loped over, and Snyder's kick made it 21 to 7.

The Redskins, with Ray Hare running and Baugh passing, took command after the second half kickoff and soon trailed only by a touchdown. Hare returned the kickoff to Washington's 17. A five yard penalty on the Bears helped the easterners get a first down. Seymour broke off his own right tackle for seventeen yards and Baugh's pass to Walt Masterson put the ball on the Bears' 36. Another mixture of passes and runs brought the Redskins to the Bears' 14 for a first down. Then Baugh sailed a pass to Walt Cifers, the former Tennessee boy, who took it in the end zone. Masterson's kick made it 21 to 14.

The Bears had more trouble after the kickoff, for the Redskins came charging back over midfield, but Baugh finally had to kick. After the champions did the same, Standlee intercepted Baugh's pass on Washington's 31 yard line and bolted down the field twenty-seven yards. Just as the quarter ended, McAfee fumbled as a wave of Redskins hit him, but Bob Nowaskey recovered the ball on the 3 yard line, and crawled over. Joe Stydahar's kick made it 28 to 14.

Bears Hold on Own 6.

Following the kickoff, Baugh passed his team to the Bears' 11 yard line, a screen pass to Millner netting the big gain, thirty-two yards. Farkas moved it down to the Bears' 6 yard line, but here Sammy finally was stopped. Al Matuza knocked down a pass to Millner back of the goal line and Stydahar blocked the next one, the Bears taking over on their 6.

From there they drove down the field for the fifth touchdown. Standlee put it in motion with a fifteen yard drive off his own left tackle. Plasman made a leaping catch of Snyder's pass on the Redskins' 40 and pounded to the 28 for a forty-two yard gain. After Swisher lost five yards, Snyder passed to McAfee, who took the ball on the 3 yard line and stepped over for his ninth touchdown of the season. Snyder then kicked his fourth extra point.

Redskins Wind It Up.

The Redskins brought the kickoff back to their 35 yard line and proceeded to wind up the day's scoring. A screen pass to Cecil Hare was good for twenty-five yards. Even tho Plasman broke thru and hurled Baugh for an eighteen yard loss, this couldn't stop the rally. A pass by Sammy was caught on the Bears' 18 by Al Krueger and he ran to the 5 yard line.

Here again, Baugh's passes failed and Bulldog Turner intercepted one on the goal line, coming up to the 12 yard marker. A fumble by Snyder was pounced on by Clem Stralka on the 5 yard line. In two plays Seymour drove over and Joe Aguirre kicked the last point of the game.

Lions' Rally Deals Eagles 21-17 Defeat

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP).—Scoring in the fourth quarter with two touchdown passes of sixty-nine and forty-five yards, the Detroit Lions snatched a 21 to 17 National league victory from the Philadelphia Eagles today before 16,306.

With eight minutes to play and trailing, 17 to 7, the Lions tossed two passes that brought 14 points in four minutes and gave Detroit its third victory of the season.

Four minutes later Booth rifled one to Maury Britt, who sprinted forty-five yards to score the winning points. Lio again kicked the point.

The Lions came to life after having been pushed around for three quarters by Philadelphia's version of the T formation. The defeat was the Eagle's sixth of the year, against two victories and one tie.

CARDINALS HAVE HUTSON TROUBLE AND LOSE, 17-9

Cards Come Right Back.

The second quarter produced little excitement until Hal Van Every threw a thirty-one yard pass to Andy Uram on the Cardinals' 22. A couple of running plays failed, so Hinkle went back into the game and kicked a field goal to make it 10 to 3, Packers, at the half.

The Cardinals got right back in the ball game without losing the ball at the start of the second half. They took the kickoff back to their 23 yard line, and Goldberg went to work again. He carried the ball eight times as the Cardinals piled up four first downs, with Clement doing the rest of the running and throwing to take the ball to the Packer 27.

Interception Stops Packers.

Then Clement wound up and fired a long pass to Martin, who grabbed the ball out of Lou Brock's arms at the goal line and fell over for the touchdown.

The Cardinals halted a Packer drive that carried for fifty-eight yards as the fourth quarter opened, Martin ending the threat when he intercepted a pass on his own 12 yard line. Martin punted sixty-five yards down the field, Brock being downed on his own 29 yard line. Then Hutson and company went to work on their second touchdown to end the day's scoring.

PLAN JURY QUIZ ON BUS TRAGEDY COSTING 9 LIVES

Reveal Autoist Convicted as a Drunk Week Ago.

Rushville, Ind., Nov. 16 [Special].—Circuit Judge William F. Marshall will be asked tomorrow morning to summon a special grand jury to hear charges of drunken driving against Paul T. Connell, 39 years old, the motorist who is held responsible for the Greyhound bus crash three miles east of here last evening in which nine persons were killed and nine others injured.

Announcing that he will request the calling of the jurors as soon as court convenes, County Prosecutor James C. Cooper said he will be prepared to present evidence at once. Whether Connell will be charged with manslaughter will depend upon the outcome of tomorrow's inquest into the crash, Cooper said.

Fined as Drunk Week Ago.

Earlier today, state police records revealed that Connell, a pudgy faced farmer living near Glenwood, eight miles from this town, was convicted of drunkenness and paid a fine less than a week ago after having been found at the wheel of his car alongside a country road. It was explained that police were unable to charge him with drunken driving because his car was not in motion.

Last evening's crash occurred when Connell's car sideswiped the bus. The motorist was seized at the scene, and while county authorities worked, sleepy eyed and grim, thruout the day attempting to identify the dead he was held incommunicado at the state police barracks in Connersville.

A drunk-o-meter test given soon after the accident showed a degree of alcohol far beyond the legal limit, officials said. Results of such tests are admissable as evidence at trials under recently enacted Indiana law.

Report He Admits Drinking.

Connell admitted having drunk a half pint of whisky in Rushville yesterday before the accident, according to police. He also admitted that he knew he was driving in the middle of the road as the bus approached, but said he was unable to steer the car to the side of the road in time to avoid the crash.

Meanwhile Rush county authorities announced that six of those killed in the bus crash have been identified. These victims were: Andrew Henson, 26, of Cincinnati, the bus driver; John W. Pavey, 20, of Sabina, O.; Mrs. Mae Brookfield, 70, of Norwood, O.; Mrs. Tabula Avery, 22, of Cincinnati, and her two children, Jacqueline, 3, and Phyllis, 18 months old.

Bodies of the other three killed have not been positively identified.

Mrs. Verma Tomkins of Chicago and Virgil [Buck] McKinney of South Bend, Ind., previously listed tentatively among the dead when their baggage was found in the wreckage, informed officials today they had taken another bus.

WOMAN, 81, KILLED WHEN TWO CARS COLLIDE IN ZION

Mrs. Helen Lawrey, 81 years old, 1125 Patterson avenue, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding with her son, William, and other members of her family, collided with another driven by W. E. Turppa, 31, at Emmaus avenue and 29th street, Zion. Turppa lives at 2724 Ezekiel avenue, Zion. The accident was the third automobile fatality in Zion this year.

John O'Flynn, 60, who was a janitor at 4217 Gladys avenue until he moved two weeks ago to an address police were unable to learn, was killed by a car at Harrison street and Keeler avenue. The driver was Joseph Coleman, 25, of 3922 West Arlington place, a clerk.

Six persons were injured early yesterday in a head-on collision between two automobiles at Milwaukee avenue and Waukegan road, Niles.

Four who were in one car suffered bone fractures. They were Michael Lewis, 30 years old, 2418 Moffat street, the driver; his wife, Nell, 28; Elmer Hansen, 33, of 2445 Cortland street, and his wife, Helen, 31.

The other car was driven by Albert Mikolajczyk, 25, of 1418 North Campbell avenue. With him was Joseph Treuschler, 22, of 1508 North Campbell avenue. Both suffered cuts about the head, but only Treuschler remained hospitalized after treatment.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 832 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 578 were killed in Chicago where 22,893 were injured in the same period.

7 Burn to Death, 17 Hurt Watching Wreck of Trucks

Ranger, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP).—Six men and a boy were burned fatally and 17 other persons were injured in a shower of flaming gasoline while they were watching two trucks burn after a highway crash near here last night.

A lumber-laden truck, officers, said, stalled on a hill. Another truck crashed into it and both machines caught fire. The burning lumber evidently set off an auxiliary gasoline tank explosion, spraying flames over the spectators.

Mother and Two Daughters Die in Fire; Father Injured

Rives, Mo., Nov. 16 (AP).—Flames which destroyed their two room home fatally burned a 23 year old mother and two small daughters last night. The dead were Mrs. Lena Hardin, Cleta Fern Hardin, 3; Betty Loyce Hardin, 6 months. The father, Perry Hardin, 32, was burned badly, but was expected to live. Another daughter escaped uninjured. The fire started when Hardin threw kerosene on hot coals in a stove.

BURGLARS ROB HOME.

Burglars who forced the front door of his apartment at 508 North Monticello avenue, last night took $240 and $300 worth of jewelry, Samuel Lodovico reported to Austin police.

BRINGS MILLIONS IN ARMS WORK TO CHICAGOLAND

Wade Gets Awards with No Ballyhoo.

The Problem

Priority difficulties threaten shutdowns for 3,500 Chicagoland plants employing 70,000 men. Huge arms contracts are being let, but the Chicago area is getting only $320 per industrial worker, compared with thousands of dollars per worker in many other cities. To use its production capacity, and to prosper now and after the war, Chicagoland must have more government contracts and more plants.

BY HAL FOUST.

Millions in armament subcontracts are being placed in Chicagoland with neither chamber of commerce ballyhoo nor aid of federal, state, or city commissions and committees appointed to promote war contract negotiations.

Chicago's motto.

Will H. Wade, born in Chicago in 1874 and well known as chairman of the board of governors for Shriners' hospitals, is a manufacturers' representative in this war business. His modest office at 134 South La Salle street has been unnoticed in all of the armament publicity about the OPM, the mayor's committee, the governor's commission, luncheons, announcements, and speeches. He hasn't been in the news, but the contracts for machine gun parts, cannon parts, and plane parts are going across his old fashioned table desk.

Discusses His Contracts.

"Here's one that will run about 3 million dollars," he told his interviewer, pointing to some large envelopes. "It's for some small parts for 155, 75 and 22 millimeter guns.

"A factory that has been making ditching and digging equipment is lined up for the job. I've inspected the factory and believe it is able to perform. A production engineer from the prime contractor, a Detroit corporation, is coming here to verify my judgment before the subcontract is signed.

"A few days ago I placed a subcontract with a Chicago tool plant for 300,000 units of eight small parts for a machine gun. This initial order will require about 125 days of production and pay about $1,250,000.

Valve Order Expected.

"En route in the mails from a prime contractor is a proposition for making 1,000 each of 14 different sizes of valves that are used on pumps on a warplane. These will cost $7 or $8 apiece. They're aluminum forgings.

"A couple of weeks ago I placed a subcontract for $4,500 worth a day of caterpillar treads. The plant in normal times makes forgings for automobile parts, washing machines, and printing equipment."

Wade operates without aid of the Association of Commerce and he makes no use of the Chicago office of the OPM.

Avoids Waste of Time.

"The Association of Commerce is no help to me," he said in answer to a question. "And it takes five days to see any one at the OPM.

"Washington? A friend of mine spent two weeks in Washington without finding any one with authority to say 'yes' or 'no.' And men who have spent a lifetime as industrial executives don't like to be pushed around for days by young government clerks and young army and navy officers.

"The big corporations that have the large prime contracts avoid the OPM red tape by having a representative—that's my job—go directly to plants that might qualify for certain subcontracts. They want quick service without filling out a lot of forms. A long distance telephone call often does the trick.

"Good manufacturers' agents know the large factories in the Chicago metropolitan area. Most of the subcontracts require volume production. When I find a management that is interested I inspect his equipment. The blueprints are in the next day's mail delivery. Another long distance conversation sends the prime contractor's production engineer to Chicago. There's no dillydally."

This article gives a lot of publicity for one man's business. Free advertising imposed upon the news columns? The boost for Wade appears to be deserved because his individual enterprise is in line with the objective of THE TRIBUNE'S campaign—more contracts for Chicagoland to ease "priority unemployment." Wade is a one man committee on armament production.

Sprayed Into Existence

DIRECTORS' DISCRETION.

Is it necessary for a corporation which has been showing losses and then returns to a profit basis to make up capital deficit before paying dividends? Can the corporation pay dividends as long as there are current profits? —L. E.

Answer: The declaration of cash dividends almost always is at the discretion of the directors who are permitted to use their reasonable option within the limits of good faith and absence of fraud. When the capital of a corporation is impaired, however, it is the usual practice among well managed companies to remedy this impairment before authorizing dividends. This might involve withholding dividends even when current profits are favorable.

BETTER BUSINESS.

As a former stockholder in the Lima Locomotive Works, I know that the company has had more annual losses than profits in the last several years. I sold my stock following the 1936 loss, but am interested in knowing how Lima has fared as to orders and earnings since. —A. J. H.

Answer: Lima Locomotive Works, Inc., which ranks third in the industry, operated profitably in 1937 for the first time since 1930. The results follow for years ended Dec. 31:

1940	$ 6,801,764	$ 87,007
1939	5,291,497	*134,326
1938	3,208,400	*687,035
1937	10,765,921	1,019,983
1936	4,496,915	*251,104

*Loss.

No interim earnings have been reported. A $1 dividend is payable Dec. 24 and 4 per cent in stock will be paid Dec. 9. The previous payment was $1.50 in December, 1937.

Lima Locomotive began 1939 without an order on its books. Business improved early that year. In March this year, the company said it had orders for 60 locomotives and that operations were at the highest level since 1918.

Among recent orders are one for 15 locomotives and tenders amounting to more than $2,133,000 from the Nickel Plate road and another from the Chesapeake and Ohio for 10 locomotives estimated at $2,750,000. Lima also has received United States government orders and a contract for tanks from Britain.

SEEK FAST WAY TO BUILD ARMS AREAS' HOUSING

The Defense Homes corporation is experimenting with houses that are literally sprayed into existence. Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, disclosed at a press conference that the experiments were being conducted in Fairfax county, Virginia.

Ten houses being erected on an 18 acre tract purchased by the corporation resemble igloos during construction, but Jones said that the design could be varied as desired. At present, he said, Defense Homes corporation, a subsidiary of the RFC, is interested in learning whether the method will supply "simple, inexpensive, and durable houses quickly."

An ordinary foundation, without basement, is built. Over this is placed a pneumatic rubber form, against which, in proper position, are placed the frames for doors and windows. An inch of concrete is then sprayed over the form. A few hours later an inch of insulation material is sprayed on, followed by a two inch final layer of cement. The pneumatic form is deflated and removed and the house, which requires neither inside plaster nor outside paint, is ready for completion of the interior.

BELL AIRCRAFT STRIKE DELAYED FOR CIO RULING

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP).—CIO workers at the Bell Aircraft corporation's two warplane plants decided today to adopt a watch and wait policy, thus removing temporarily the possibility of a strike.

On recommendation of Leo Lamotte, assistant aviation director of the CIO United Automobile Workers, about 1,000 members voted at a special meeting to await a decision by the CIO national convention, opening tomorrow in Detroit, on its attitude toward the National Defense Mediation board.

Auto Plant Strike Ends.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 16 [Special].—A strike that has tied up the assembly line at the General Motors plant at Linden for nine days was settled tonight with acceptance of a tentative agreement by representatives of 4,000 strikers. Details were not disclosed.

BOHN ALUMINUM TO OPERATE TWO FEDERAL PLANTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—The Defense Plant corporation announced today that it had contracted with Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation for construction of aluminum extrusion plants at Adrian, Mich., and in the Los Angeles area.

It said the Adrian plant would cost $3,935,000, of which $1,415,000 would be for land and buildings and the remainder for machinery and equipment. The Los Angeles plant is to cost $5,538,000, with $1,753,000 going into land and buildings.

The corporation will retain title to the plants, but Bohn will operate them under seven year leases.

PUBLIC, PRIVATE DEBT ABOVE 167 BILLION MARK

Consumer Credit Up 12.8 Per Cent.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 [Special].—Public and private debt in the United States aggregated 167 billion 300 million dollars as of Dec. 31, 1940, or an increase of 3.2 per cent for the year, the department of commerce announced today. Net indebtedness per capita for the year was $1,263, compared with a high of $1,406 in 1930 and a low of $1,184 for the 1929-'40 period, the report said.

Private debt in 1940 increased more than public debt, both in dollar amount and percentage.

Nearly All Classes Rise.

All the major types of private debt except farm mortgages showed a gain, with the most striking increase in outstanding consumer credit. This rose 12.8 per cent to 9 billion 100 million dollars. About half of the increase represented heavier automobile financing.

The increase of 1.3 billion dollars in corporate short-term debt during 1940 was concentrated among industrial companies and flowed chiefly from the need of business for additional working capital, the department said.

Causes of Upturn.

Altho some increase in current business indebtedness is characteristic of economic expansion, this unusually large rise in corporate short-term debt relative to the rise in national income was regarded as evidence of the changes in character of production necessitated by the rearmament program and of the preparation for further business expansion during 1941.

SUPERIOR OIL'S DEBENTURES GO ON SALE TODAY

Public offering of 15 million dollars of 3½ per cent debentures of the Superior Oil company [incorporated in California] will be made today by an underwriting group headed by Dillon, Read & Co. The debentures, due Nov. 1, 1956, are priced at 103 plus accrued interest.

Net proceeds from the sale will be used to the extent of $10,094,000 to redeem 3¼ per cent debentures due 1950. The balance will be added to the company's general funds.

Production Starts Today in New Plane Parts Plant

Cleveland, O., Nov. 16 (AP).—Initial production operations will start tomorrow in the new 13 million dollar aircraft parts plant of Thompson Products, Inc., in suburban Euclid, President Frederick C. Crawford said today. Less than seven months after ground was broken for the 15 acre government financed plant, workers will report to prepare steel stock for preliminary processes in the manufacture of airplane engine parts.

Third of Labor in Union or Closed Shops

About a third of the workers employed in 10 leading industries work in closed or union shops, the Twentieth Century Fund reported yesterday as its survey of collective bargaining in the United States neared completion.

The 10 industries employ nearly 6 million workers, of whom about 4 million are union members. This group employs about a sixth of the country's wage earners.

None Completely Closed.

None of the 10 industries is completely closed shop, but this status is dominant in the printing, with 140,000 of its 245,000 employés union members, and in clothing, where 329,000 of 368,000 employés are union members. It is common in boots and shoes and in construction.

According to the survey the union shop [where nonmembers may be hired but must become members after a certain period] prevails in the coal mining industry, in which 90 per cent of the 540,000 employed in the mines work under union shop agreements, including about half of the workers in the "captive" mines, some of which are owned by steel companies.

Have Not Had Union Shop.

Only 53,000 workers involved in the current coal dispute have not had the union shop, altho 95 per cent of these are members of the United Mine Workers. Exclusive bargaining rights prevail in automobiles, rubber, electrical manufacturing, iron and steel, and railroads.

The report says that the union and closed shops prevail in industries in which unionism long has been accepted, altho the railroad industry is the outstanding exception.

STEEL RATINGS INDICATE ARMS WORK SPREADS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 16 (AP).—The increasing proportion of steel inquiries which carry high preference ratings is an indication of the spread of armament work among smaller manufacturers, the magazine Steel said today. It termed this "a heartening sign."

"The larger the number of steel fabricators engaged in essential work the sounder the business situation and the fewer the shutdowns," the review said. "Steel allocation is coming nearer. Under present conditions steelmakers cannot determine which of numerous orders bearing highest priority should be rolled and shipped first.

"Necessity for further curtailment in steel production because of scrap shortage is more imminent as the supply fails to increase. Steelworks operations are feeling the effect and the national rate last week receded one-half point to 97 per cent of capacity with indications of more severe contraction in the next few weeks."

People and Events

The Alemite division of the Stewart-Warner corporation will open its 26th annual convention today in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Plans for advertising, sales, and merchandising programs in 1942 will be discussed.

Ellis G. Bohon, Rollin A. Brooks, Cyrus Garfield, and Edward W. Koehler, all of Chicago, have been elected members of the American Institute of Accountants.

SUPPORTS PLAN TO REORGANIZE MO. PACIFIC LINE

Bond Group Replies to Pyeatt Charge.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP).—Controversy over the pending plan of reorganization for the Missouri Pacific railroad system today brought from a bondholders' protective committee a declaration that the campaign of some interests in the property to have the plan rejected "is for the benefit of Alleghany corporation," the former Van Sweringen railroad holding company.

L. W. Baldwin, chief executive officer of the road.

The committee, composed of representatives of banking and life insurance concerns, in a letter to Missouri Pacific bondholders urging approval of the plan, said it had been approved "as fair and equitable" by both the Interstate Commerce commission and the United States District court.

SUPPORTS PLAN TO REORGANIZE MO. PACIFIC LINE

to Missouri Pacific bondholders, signed by J. S. Pyeatt, chairman of the company, urging rejection of the plan, the bondholders' committee said:

"The Missouri Pacific railroad, on whose letterhead the communication was written, is not the present owner and operator of the properties known as the Missouri Pacific railroad and has not been since 1933, at which time the title to the properties passed to trustees in bankruptcy, and the board of directors, of which Mr. Pyeatt is chairman, then ceased to have control of the railroad's property or its operation.

"The bankrupt company which addressed this solicitation to you, therefore is merely a corporate shell, owning no property or assets and representing only the interests of the stockholders who elect its officials. The majority of its common stock is owned by Alleghany corporation, and Mr. Pyeatt, its nominee, is not and never has been an operating officer of the railroad itself."

Earnings from Arms Program.

Regarding Pyeatt's claim that the reorganization plan was unnecessarily drastic in view of a sharp increase in Missouri Pacific's earnings this year, the committee asserted it had been informed by L. W. Baldwin, chief executive officer of the road, that in excess of 90 per cent of the increase in earnings over 1940 was attributable to the armament program.

Concerning Pyeatt's contention that the new tax levies on the reorganized Missouri Pacific would siphon off a large part of its net earnings, the committee said it did not minimize the seriousness of the tax problem, but added that "a vote to reject the plan neither meets the problem nor solves it."

Stedman Heads Committee.

The chairman of the committee which represents the road's first and refunding bonds, is John W. Stedman, vice president of the Prudential Insurance Company of America.

Bondholders of the Missouri Pacific will ballot on the plan this week under arrangements made by the commerce commission which sponsored the plan.

When Pyeatt announced he would seek to have the bondholders reject the plan, a spokesman for Alleghany corporation asserted that the holding company was not trying to retain control of the Missouri Pacific but only was interested in protecting its investment in Missouri Pacific convertible debentures. The plan wiped out the common and preferred stocks by which Alleghany previously rated as the controlling interest.
